CZAR AWAITS JAPAN'S NOTE

Meanwhile Emperor Lays Status of Peace Movement Before People.

IS READY TO TREAT

Pays Flattering Tribute to the Spirit Which Prompted President Roosevelt's Offer.

BELIEVES IN HIS SINCERITY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 14.—Instead of publishing the text of its official reply to the message from President Roosevelt, regarding the initiation of peace negotiations with Japan, the Russian government decided, with the purpose of taking the public into its confidence regarding the prospects of peace, to issue a statement summarizing the status of negotiations, which will appear in the form of a communication in the foreign office gazette today.

This statement, which pays a graceful tribute to President Roosevelt's action, expresses in a general way Russia's willingness to negotiate, without entering into particulars which cannot be considered to be definitely determined until the receipt of the Japanese reply. The Russian government, under the circumstances, has deemed it best to leave to the Washington government the publication of the Russian note. The following is a text of the communication:

"The president of the United States instructed his ambassador to the imperial court to request a private audience in order to convey directly to the emperor assurances of the unfailing friendship the United States entertains for Russia, and to express President Roosevelt's personal desire to contribute as much as possible, in the interest of the whole world, toward the cessation of hostilities in the far east. The ambassador was instructed to add that the president was making simultaneous overtures to the Japanese government.

Gives Benevolent Attention.

"The emperor was pleased to receive the American ambassador on June 7, and gave benevolent attention to President Roosevelt's initiative, which had, moreover, met an entirely sympathetic reception on the part of friendly powers.

"Russia, being convinced Japan was equally disposed to accept President Roosevelt's proposal, which was transmitted through the intermediary of the representatives of the republic at St. Petersburg and Tokyo to the imperial as well as to the Japanese government, received favorably the official communication from the ambassador, and notification to this effect was published in Washington.

"In reply to this communication, the foreign minister, acting under the emperor's orders, informed the American ambassador in a note dated June 12 that the emperor, deeply sensible of the sentiments expressed by the president, was pleased to see therein a fresh mark of the traditional friendship uniting Russia and America, and precious proof that President Roosevelt was in complete accord with the views the emperor held on a general settlement so essential to the good progress of the whole of mankind. As for an eventual meeting of Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries, charged with ascertaining how far it would be possible for the two powers to elaborate conditions of peace, the imperial government would have no objection in principle to such an attempt if the Japanese government expressed a desire therefor."

Japan's Delay Explained.

The fact that the Japanese government has not yet communicated with Russia as to time and place and the number of plenipotentiaries is not considered strange, inasmuch as the text of the Russian reply, sent to Washington yesterday, could not have arrived in Tokyo, considering the difference in time, until last midnight at the earliest.

Japan's terms continue to be matter for animated speculation. A well informed diplomat, who says he knew Japan's terms before the battle of Mukden, considered them to have been very moderate, and believes even now they will be found to be not unduly harsh. Private advices, received from a Russian source at Shanghai, say it is certain Japan will demand the surrender of all ships interned in eastern water, which may be another item offsetting indemnity.

Papers supposed to have semi-official inspiration continue to speak dubiously of the results, but it is noticeable that the cheap and popular papers plainly advise the people to reconcile themselves to defeat and peace.

BEGINS HIS LIFE'S WORK IN STATE PENITENTIARY

Austrian Count, When Sentenced for Theft, Declares He Has Never Performed Labor.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 13.—"Why, my goodness, judge, I never did any work in my life!" exclaimed Count Reggi Contri Carlo of Trieste, Austria, today, when Judge Foster sentenced him to one year and seven months in state's prison at hard labor for taking a diamond brooch. Then the prisoner broke down and wept. Incoherently he pleaded to be allowed to go, saying that he had not intended to do any wrong, but was not used to the customs of the country.

"And, besides," he sobbed, "I haven't any acquaintances in prison." A smile went around the court room, and the count was informed by a court officer that he would be properly introduced to his associates when he arrived on the scene.

The count was arrested on the charge of stealing a $1,500 diamond brooch from the store of Lebolt & Co. When shown a tray of gems he picked up a diamond brooch and ran out of the door with it.

The Call of the Wild (Waves).

SENATOR KNOX'S ADVICE SOUGHT

He Is Called to White House to Discuss Enforcement of the Anti-Trust Laws.

TALK OVER THE BEEF CASES

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.

Senator Knox left here this afternoon for Philadelphia after being in conference with the president for two days relative to the enforcement of the anti-trust laws in some of the cases now before the department of justice. President Roosevelt invited the senator to come here to consult with him, and Mr. Knox called at the White House yesterday and again today. When seen, previous to his departure, Senator Knox would not discuss his visits to the White House, nor would he indicate what cases were under consideration by him and the president. It is understood, however, that his visit related to the beef trust cases, and that upon the advice of Senator Knox depended some important developments in the litigation now pending at Chicago.

The prosecution of the beef trust, the Northern Securities cases, in fact, all of the cases brought for violation of the anti-trust laws, were begun while Senator Knox was attorney general, and he, therefore, is more familiar with the details of them than any member of the present cabinet. This is not the first time the president has found it expedient to call Mr. Knox into consultation since he left the cabinet. On several other occasions he has been called into conference because of his familiarity with the laws, some of which were framed and passed under his direction, and because he is informed on all the phases of the cases now being pushed by the department of justice.

Senator Knox had luncheon with the president today, and remained with him most of the afternoon. He went from here to his farm at Valley Forge, where he will spend the greater part of the summer.

NO HITCH DISCERNIBLE IN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

The Movement Is Proceeding Slowly, However, a Meeting Place Now Being Under Consideration.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Rumors that Secretary Taft had been recalled to Washington hurriedly from New York for a conference with the president and the French ambassador, M. Jusserand, at the White House tonight gave rise to ungrounded apprehension in some quarters that there had been a hitch in the peace negotiations. Of any hitch, Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, and Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, had no knowledge.

Mr. Taft did return from New York, but he did not see the president tonight. M. Jusserand found at the French embassy, upon his return, a note from the president asking him to come to the White House, but it is doubtful if the primary purpose of this request was for a discussion of the peace problem. There is reason to believe the situation in Morocco has been occupying more of the attention of the administration that has generally been known.

Russia and Japan have not agreed upon a meeting place. Japan is believed to prefer the United States, and to think that the plenipotentiaries can meet to the best advantage in some New England watering place. Russia is believed to desire The Hague. If President Roosevelt is asked to name the place of meeting he will suggest some point in one of the smaller governments of Europe. He will not suggest the United States.

Fire Raging at Corry.

CORRY, June 14—(3 a. m.)—Fire, which broke out here at 2:30 a. m. in Perrington's livery barn in East Main street, has destroyed the barn, Scully's cigar factory, Sopper's barber shop and Nate's grocery store. The fire is still beyond control and spreading. The whole square seems doomed.

MR. GOULD NOT ALONE IN FIELD

In Bidding for the Little Kanawha Syndicate's Property There Are Others.

RAMSEY PREPARING TO BUILD

"Mr. Gould is not the only Richmond in the field."

This answer was made by J. Ramsey, Jr., until recently president of all the Wabash lines, when asked last evening whether the Little Kanawha syndicate's property would pass to George J. Gould.

"No final disposition has been made of the Little Kanawha property," he said. "Preparations are now being made with a view to the construction of the railroad links needed. My trip here today was in that connection. The project never looked better than it does at present.

"The plans are in such shape that contracts could be let as soon as the contractors could go over the road and prepare their bids. The line might need a little restaking, but that is all. The detailed surveys were completed some time ago.

"The road will certainly be built, and that shortly. It will extend from the connection with the Wabash extension to the West Virginia terminus. It is a valuable property, and one that well justifies spending the amount still needed."

Mr. Ramsey, while in Pittsburgh, yesterday was in conference with J. W. Patterson, late vice president of the Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal, and A. M. Neeper, the attorney for the Wabash interests, including the Little Kanawha syndicate. He will leave today for New York, and on Saturday will sail on the Lucania for a European trip of a few months. On the trip he will be accompanied by the members of his family, and the voyage will be the first vacation he has had for many years.

MEMBER OF ROTHSCHILD FAMILY DIES IN VIENNA

Baron Nathaniel Prominent as Philanthropist and in Society—Long Member of Parliament.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

VIENNA, June 13.—Baron Nathaniel de Rothschild, brother of the head of the Austrian branch of the firm, died today.

He was one of the members of the great house, which for many years has played such an important part in European financial affairs. He lost his health several years ago, and since then has passed the winters in a tent on the Arabian desert near Assouan, where he was guarded by an Arab tribe. Baron Rothschild was one of the greatest benefactors of the poor of Vienna, and was a munificent patron of ancient and modern art.

Until he lost his health he was one of the most prominent social figures in Vienna. He was 63 years old. One of the wealthiest men in the world, Baron Rothschild was noted also for the simplicity of his life. He was educated at Trinity college, Cambridge, England, and was a member of the British parliment for Aylesbury from 186 5to 1885. He was unamrried.

LA FOLLETTE IS AT BAT.

Wisconsin Governor Begins First Inning in His Suits to Collect Back Taxes from Railroads.

MADISON, WIS., June 13.—The first test case against railroad companies for alleged back taxes on gross earnings that have not been reported begun in the circuit court here today before Judge Stevens. As a result of this proceeding La Follette hopes to collect $500,000 in back taxes and penalties, the penalty prescribed being $10,000 against each road that has failed to report gross earnings as required by the state law. The first case is brought against the Chicago Northwestern.

This was one of the issues of the campaign made by Gov. La Follette last fall. State Railroad Commissioner Thomas reported that investigation in the last six years shows the total [illegible] gross earnings withheld from report is $813,469.

GAMBLER KILLS GREECE'S PREMIER

Crowd Nearly Lynches Assassin and Weeping Follows Nobleman's Body Home.

KING TO RETURN TO ATHENS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ATHENS, June 13.—Theodore P. Delyannis, the popular premier of Greece, was stabbed and mortally wounded by a professional gambler named Gherakaris at the main entrance of the chamber of deputies at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The premier died within three hours. The assassin, who was immediately arrested, said he committed the deed in revenge for the stringent measures taken by Premier Delyannis against the gambling houses.

Gherakaris approached, saluted the premier and opened the carriage door. The premier was in the act of thanking Gherakaris, when the gambler plunged a long dagger into his abdomen. The murderer was immediately overpowered by the attendants. The wounded statesmen was taken to a Red Cross station where an operation was performed, but he died at 7:30 o'clock.

Lynching of the murderer by the people was prevented by the gendarmes, who rushed their prisoner to prison. It is estimated that 20,000 persons followed the body of the premier from the Red Cross station to his late residence. Members of the cabinet and the chamber were among the crowd, many of them weeping.

King George, who is at Tatoi announced that he would at once return to Athens.

Gherakaris was recently liberated from prison, having been sentenced to 18 years for the murder of his wife.

HOCH WRITES AN APPEAL.

Besecches Gov. Dineen to Stay His Execution Until He Can Present Arguments for New Trial.

CHICAGO, June 13.—(Special.)—For several days Johann Hoch labored over a personal letter to Gov. Dineen. He nervously tore up page after page of paper while preparing the letter. He reviews his case and argues concerning the strength of the evidence which was presented. He asserts his innocence.

Hoch appeals to the chief executive to grant him a stay of execution of 30 or 60 days, assuring the governor that, in the meanwhile, he will secure money enough to pay for the complete record of the case. Attorney Plotke will supplement the written appeal by an oral argument.

TO NOMINATE JOHN STEWART

Col Andrews Calls Meeting of Republican State Committee.

SECRETARY CHOSEN

Herman P. Miller of Harrisburg Is Given New Honor in Party Organization.

CONVENES AT PHILADELPHIA

Special Telegram From CHESTER D. POTTER, Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—Col. W. R. Andrews, Republican state chairman, today issued a call for a meeting of the state committee, to be held at state headquarters in this city Wednesday, June 21. Mr. Andrews also announced his appointment as secretary of the committee of Herman P. Miller of Harrisburg. Mr. Miller is the present state librarian, a position which he will not be obliged to relinquish in order to accept the new honor conferred.

As stated in the official call, the state committee will not have much business to transact. It will probably nominate Judge John Stewart for justice of the supreme court, and he will be elected at the general November election. When Gov. Pennypacker appointed Judge Stewart to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Dean it was understood that he would receive the party nomination. Among other features of the committee meeting will probably be the announcement of the members-at-large, Chairman Andrews, it is understood, having made his selections. The call sent out today follows:

"You are requested to attend a meeting of the Republican state committee, to be held at the headquarters of the committee, 1417 Locust street, Philadelphia, on Wednesday, June 21, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for judge of the supreme court, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice John Dean, in accordance with rule the sixth of the permanent rules of the Republican party in Pennsylvania, adopted in state convention held at Harrisburg, August 24, 1899, which reads as follows: 'Sixth. That the state committee shall hereafter have power to place in nomination candidates to fill any vacancies upon the state ticket caused by death, resignation or otherwise, and the said committee shall also have power to place in nomination a candidate to fill vacancy caused by death or resignation of any officer to be voted for by the electors of the state, where such vacancy shall occur after the regular convention of the party has been held, and the vacancy is to be filled at the next ensuing general election.'

"Also for the transaction of such other business as may be properly presented for the consideration of the committee. On account of the importance of the occasion I trust you can find it convenient to be present."

CONFEDERATE VETERANS' SPECIAL IS WRECKED

Train Overturns on Trestle While Going 50 Miles an Hour—Three Are Killed; 29 Hurt.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ALBION, ILL., June 13.—Three persons were killed and 29 injured in the wreck of an eastbound passenger train on the Southern railway at Golden Gate, Ill., today. The train was a "cotton special," carrying confederate veterans to the reunion at Louisville, Ky. While running at a speed of 50 miles an hour, the engine struck a spread rail on a trestle 20 feet high, and the engine and four coaches were overturned and fell to the bottom of the ravine.

The dead are: J. J. Uhles, Greenway, Ark.; J. D. Johnson, fireman, and an unidentified woman.

The seriously injured are: Gen. James Jordan, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Capt. John S. Bell, Pine Bluff; Otto Graetz, probably fatally; Miss Kate Schmecher, Paragould, Ark.; David Weaver, Paragould; R. S. Hancock, Piggott, Ark.; James Timer, Walcott, Ark., and Dr. Howell, Rector, Ark.

Gen. Jordan, who was seriously injured, was in charge of the Second Arkansas brigade. W. C. Peeler, district agent of the Cottonbelt road, did not regard his injuries as serious, and started for home.

WEAVER GETS A SET-BACK

The Railways Committee Sends Franchise Repealers to City Solicitor.

CROWD GOES WILD

If Hoots and Hisses the Mayor's Opponents When They Attempt to Speak.

POLICE QUELL THE DISORDER

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 13.

After several weeks of silence, during which time every effort has been made to wreck its political force, the Republican organization today locked horns with Mayor Weaver. The organization won, temporarily, at least, and the prediction is made that from now on every inch of ground will be contested in the fight for supremacy.

Issue was joined at the meeting of the railway committee of councils. Four ordinances granting franchises to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company were passed just prior to the beginning of the gas lease controversy. All were vetoed by the mayor, but councils passed them over the veto. This was before the political storm broke, and before the mayor commenced to use his patronage as a means to an end.

It was this action by councils, together with the gas lease extension proposition, which caused Mayor Weaver to break with the Republican leaders. He now demands that councils reconsider their action, and today had the necessary repealers presented at the meeting of the railways committee. It was a very stormy session, but by a vote of 10½ to 1½ the committee deferred action until Thursday afternoon, when an opinion from City Solicitor John L. Kinsey will be received. This was the action desired by the organization, as it takes the position the proposed repeal measures would not be valid.

Crowd Hoots Speakers.

As the meeting progressed, disorder became so wild that it was feared by some of the members of the committee bodily injury would be done them if they tried to kill the repealers. The crisis came when Select Councilman Walter Stevenson of the Thirty-second ward arose to make a speech against the repealers. The crowd went wild. It hooted and yelled such things as "How much are you paid?" and "You're a misrepresentative."

Councilman Thomas J. Ryan of the Sixth ward, who had championed the cause of the traction interests, became greatly excited and finally he jumped up in his place, and pointing at Chairman Upperman, shouted: "I am ashamed of you to allow any member of councils to be insulted in this way. I, for one, don't mean to sit here and listen to it. If we cannot be protected from this mob, I shall move we adjourn at once without considering these bills any further."

Turning to the crowd, Ryan shook his fist, and said:

"I am here serving the city to the best of my ability and doing what I think is right. Of you, sneerers and hissers, I have no fear whatever. I want to say to you that if you want to do something good for your city, you can't do it by doing wrong. I want you gentlemen to play fair. You applaud me one day and hiss me the next. If you have come here to browbeat me I can browbeat back, and I can even vote against you."

Mr. Ryan was pacified by members of the committee, and sat down. Other members of the committee who spoke against the repealers, were called "thieves" and "crooks."

Police Are Called In.

Attaches of councils were sent to summon the squad of reserve policemen from the Central station on the sixth floor. About 20 bluecoats came down and formed a line around the backs of the councilmen and, in front of the crowd. For a short time order was restored, and Mr. Stevenson was allowed to finish his speech.

Probably 500 men crowded the lobby of the committee room. A big majority was hostile to the traction company. Speeches favoring the repealers were made by the Rev. George A. Bickley of the Arch Street Methodist church, and several others. When the vote to postpone action was taken and the result was announced, the crowd kept silent, overawed by the 20 reserves, which fenced it off from the committee.

Frank H. Caven, select councilman from the Thirty-fourth ward, was arrested today on the charge of violating the law by being interested in city contracts. Caven was taken into custody on a warrant sworn out by Capt. James T. Donaghy of the detective bureau. He was taken before Magistrate Ehlenbrown at the Central station and was held in $10,000 bail for a further hearing next Thursday morning. Bail was entered by his father-in-law, E. C. Markley.

Caven Denies Charges.

This was the first of the important prosecutions resulting from the investigations conducted by Mayor Weaver into the city departments since his "break" with the Republican organization leaders. Caven's arrest caused a great sensation around city hall. The fact the warrant had been issued became known before it was served, and when Caven was finally arrested it was rumored other arrests were soon to follow.

For more than two years Caven, who is a nephew of Joseph L. Caven, a member of the board of city trusts, has been the organization leader in his ward. Politicians have frequently said he became the leader through the influence of State Senator James P. McNichol. The affidavit on which the warrant was issued charges that he supplied sand for the filtration beds at Torresdale, Roxborough and Belmont, as a contractor under Daniel J. McNichol, the senator's brother, under whose name the McNichol firm is conducted.

"I want to deny most emphatically that I ever had a dollar's worth of contracts with the city, with Mr. McNichol or any other city contractor," said Councilman

PAYS THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS TO CHICAGO LABOR LEADERS

John C. Driscoll Will Tell the Grand Jury How He Prevented Numerous Strikes by Use of a Check Book.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 13.—Within the next 24 hours, it was said tonight, a history of the secret transactions of labor unions in Chicago, for the last four years, will be made public, and that the information will implicate many labor leaders whom, it is asserted, have accepted bribes to call off strikes. The man who is expected to give this information is John C. Driscoll, former secretary of the Coal Team Owners association, who has been the intermediary between the employers and the teamsters' unions in this city for the last four years.

Driscoll says he will appear before the grand jury tomorrow with documentary evidence showing that several labor leaders have been receiving large sums of money through Driscoll, which, it is declared by the latter, the employers were forced to pay to prevent their employes being called out on strike. To substantiate his statements, Driscoll displayed tonight a check book, the stubs on which he said corresponded to the amounts of money paid to these labor leaders. This bank book will be offered to his testimony tomorrow.

The fees, according to Driscoll, paid the union men ranged from $100 to thousands of dollars, the aggregate being estimated by him at $80,000. Driscoll declares that he never received a dollar of this money for his efforts in averting trouble, except from the organizations of which he was acting as secretary.

In a riot at Waveland avenue and Janssen street this afternoon Frank Hartman was shot in the stomach and fatally wounded by Policeman "Bunk" Jones, a negro. Jones was guarding a wagon of the Chatfield Lumber Company. The progress of the wagon was impeded by a crowd of strike sympathizers. Singling out Hartman as the leader of the mob Jones jumped from the wago nand attempted to arrest him. Hartman resisted and was apparently getting the better of Jones when the policeman drew his revolver and fired.

Caven this afternoon. He refused to reveal what his defense will be.

"What they want is my resignation as a councilman," Caven declared. "Had I got out, this prosecution would never have been brought. The people behind this are merely playing to that end, I believe."

Former Director of Public Safety Frank M. Riter has been appointed secretary of the civil service board to succeed Rolla Dance, whose resignation was demanded by Mayor Weaver some days ago. The appointment goes into effect immediately, and Mr. Riter will assume charge tomorrow.

Riter has been opposed to the regular Republican state and city organization for years. In the senatorial deadlock of 1899 he was a candidate against the late M. S. Quay and received one vote on many consecutive ballots.

Director Sheldon Potter today notified the men in the department of public safety they could move at will their places of residence without first securing the consent of the political leader of their respective wards.

Mayor Weaver, through Director of Public Works Acker, today struck a blow at State Senator J. F. McNichol, close political associate of Israel W. Durham. The senator and his brother, D. J. McNichol, do most of the municipal contracting work. They are building the filtration plants and the boulevards.

Director Acker ordered work stopped on the Northeast boulevard until an "investigation" can be made to learn if the contractors are following the "letter of the specifications." The director says they are being "violated."

The boulevard is to run from Broad street near Cayuga avenue to Torresdale. When finished it will be one of the finest of its kind in the country. For some time it has been rumored that the mayor desires to make it warm for McNichol. He has started the blaze.

Those who are advocating the repeal of the traction franchises decided tonight to use the same methods to have councilmen vote for the repealers as were employed during the gas fight. The committee of nine sent out an appeal to all citizens to call on their respective councilmen and urge them to vote for the repealers, and the committee of 70 issued a call for a town meeting to be held tomorrow night to advocate the passage of the repealers. Among those who are expected to address the meeting is Wayne MacVeagh, former United States attorney general.

LEGAL FIGHT STARTS ON ALLEGHENY LINES

William Kaufmann Seeks to Have the Old Mellon Charters for Traction Roads Revoked by Court.

A fight to a finish between the Allegheny street car interests, represented by William Kaufmann, and the Pittsburgh Railways Company has been started by Mr. Kaufmann filing petitions yesterday with the attorney general at Harrisburg for writs of quo warranto. The writs sought look to the revocation of seven street car charters controlled by the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

When the applications were made by the Kaufmann companies to Allegheny councils for franchises President J. D. Callery of the Pittsburgh Railways Company said that the proposed lines would pass over streets already secured to the Pittsburgh Railways Company by the old Mellon charters. It is the purpose of the Kaufmann interests to remove this obstacle in the way of their plans by having the old charters revoked. It is expected that the fight will be carried to the highest courts, as the local monopoly will not easily allow opposition lines to be built under its very nose.

Six of the petitions are in behalf of the Marshal Avenue Street Railway Company and the other in behalf of the Watson Street Railway Company. The Marshal Avenue company asks for writs against the Cedar Avenue, the City View Street, the Allegheny Hilltop, the North Side and South Side, the Howard and East, the Pittsburgh, Allegheny & Manchester Railway companies.

The Watson company's application is against the Howard and East Street Railway Company. All of these seven companies were chartered in July, 1901, after the passage of the Feche-Emery trolley franchise legislation. These companies all come under the recent decision of the supreme court which prevents one trolley company from running over more than 2,500 feet of the tracks of any other company. This is used as a basis for the application for the writs of quo warranto.

The attorney general has fixed June 27 for a hearing.

SWINDLERS ARE NEATLY CAUGHT

Trio of Postoffice Forgers Run to Ground in the Hotel Duquesne Last Night.

OPERATED BOLDLY FOR YEARS

After dodging the postal athorities for almost two years, a gang of swindlers were arrested in a clever manner last night by postoffice inspectors at the Hotel Duquesne. At Central station they gave their names as John M. Reed and Joseph Stewart of New York and John Whitney of Binghamton, N. Y. It is alleged these men have secured $20,000 by their operations.

Their scheme was to buy a money order for 25 cents. With the aid of chemicals they would erase the writing on the order and raise the amount to $75. When this was done they would select a merchant, buy some article and tender the order in payment, receiving the greater part of the face value of the order in change.

They have worked this game in all the large cities of the United States. The western and southern states suffered the most. Two months ago the gang came to this city and passed several raised orders. They went to B. White, a furniture dealer in Fifth avenue, and bought a small couch, tendering a $75 order in payment, and receiving $60 in change. The couch was sent to a fictitious address.

They also had a woman working with them in this city. The woman took a $65 order to Dr. Jonathan Powell, in Wood street, paid him $20 for treatment for three months, and received $35 in change from the physician. The swindlers also passed a $75 order off on an Allegheny jeweler. Becoming suspicious about this time the gang went away to other cities for a time.

Last Friday, however, they returned to Pittsburgh and took up quarters at the Hotel Duquesne. They lost no time in resuming operations. On Saturday they called at Eisner & Phillips' store, Fifth avenue and Wood street, and bought a raincoat for $15, receiving the change for a $75 forged order. The order was placed in bank Monday for collection and passed through the usual channels undetected until it reached the postoffice department Monday afternoon.

Inspector Frank J. O'Brien immediately sent for Inspector W. A. Brown of Philadelphia and Robert Gibbens of Jersey City. These officers arrived yesterday morning and after examining the writing on the orders, decided to examine the registers of the various hotels. Inspector Gibbens, who is a hand-writing expert, was assigned that work and Inspectors Brown and O'Brien tried to secure descriptions of the man.

Writing similar to Stewart's signature appeared on the register at the Duquesne hotel. The hotel clerk's description of the men fitted with the descriptions the officers had of the gang in a dozen different states. It was found the men occupied room No. 170. The officers engaged room No. 171. City Detective Cecil G. Rice was detailed to assist the officers, and with Inspectors Brown and Gibbons hid in the room and listened to the men's conversation next door. Before this the officers had searched the suspects' room and found the rain-coat purchased at Eisner & Phillips.

Stewart and Whitney returned to their room about 9 o'clock last night and after listening to the conversation for a short time the officers were convinced they had two of the men they were after, and at once arrested them. About the same time Reed appeared in the hotel office, but something apparently alarming him and he left quickly.

Detective Rice and Inspector Gibbens immediately started out after him and overtook him in Wood street, near Oliver avenue. He was taken to the hotel and Detectives Riley and Crooks summoned. The prisoners were then handcuffed and taken to the Central station.

The postoffice inspectors say they have been chasing the men through different states for almost two years, and regard their arrest as one of the most important captures in years. The men were well dressed and are all about 25 years old.

JOSEPH O. BROWN ESTATE IS SUED BY ATTORNEYS

Suit against the estate of the late Recorder Joseph O. Brown was filed by James F. Brown, Malcolm Jackson and Edward W. McKnight, partners practicing law at Charleston, W. In criminal court E. Meade Whippo entered a plea of no defense to five charges of embezzlement, before Judge John M. Kennedy. Graney was arrested by Coroner Armstrong, and is being held, pending an investigation. It is alleged the men had a quarrel, and during the fight Laughlin fell off the porch and fractured his skull.

WASHINGTON IS DEFENDED AGAINST ATTACKING ENEMY

Unknown Gunboat Is Put Out of Action by Shots of the Fort—Three Warships Are Sunk Off Fortress Monroe.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, June 14.—At 1:45 this morning Baltimore's defending forts were again attacked by a part of the fleet under Rear Admiral Dickins. The cruiser Atlanta was discovered in the cut-off channel. She was foloiwed by the Newark and the Sylvia. Fort Howard opened fire. Forts Armistead and Smallwood following the example and after a brisk cannonade the Atlanta sent up a red rocket, which is taken to mean that she confesses destruction or surrenders.

Constructively, all three of the attacking vessels were sent to the bottom, as was also a four-masted schooner which the war vessels used as a partial screen to their movements and which was, therefore, in the line of fire from the forts. The naval vessels did not reply to the guns of the forts and shortly turned and headed down the bay.

FORT HUNT, VA., June 13.—The first gun in defense of Washington was fired by one of the eight-inch batteries of Fort Hunt at 9:11 o'clock tonight. The target was one of the units of Admiral Dickins' squadron of the gunboat type. She had just rounded Marshall's Point, about three miles below the fort, proceeding slowly up the river. That she was an "enemy" was indicated by a signal from one of the fort's 60-inch searchlights. After the initial fire the shooting became general and six minutes was taken up by Fort Washington's 12-inch batteries. Not a reply came from the warship and when the required number of shots from the fort had been fired to consecutively put the ship out of action the firing ceased.

The offending craft proceeded calmly up stream during the cessation of the fire from the forts and when she reached the mine fields, which are a little below the forts, the boats were lowered and manned. A harvest of mines was quickly gathered, but not before the rapid fire guns of the forts and occasionally an eight-inch gun had scored on the illumined target at the closer range. The ship returned the fire and her guns sputtered and flashed at a lively rate for several minutes.

FORTRESS MONROE, VA., June 13.—For the third time within the past 24 hours the battleship Texas, flagship, the training ship Hartford and the gunboat Hornet were constructively sunk off Fortress Monroe tonight about 10 o'clock. The third attack on the Chesapeake fortifications began tonight at 9:35 and heavy firing was maintained by both fleet and forts for almost half an hour. So far as can be learned now but one mine was exploded during the last encounter and that may have been struck by a merchant ship.

DETECTIVES RECOVER JEWELRY FROM GRACEY

Negro Thief Kept Two Establishments in Which His Plunder Was Secreted.

In their search for the jewelry stolen by Harry Gracey, the negro, in daylight raids on residences in this city the detectives yesterday found so many articles that they had to secure a bag to carry the plunder to the police station. The detectives learned Gracey has been keeping up two residences, and Detectives William Elmore and Oscar Seifert were detailed to search the one at 2209 Center avenue, and Detectives James W. Eagan and George Cole the other at 1228 Fifth avenue. In each place th officers found a white woman, supposed to be Gracey's wife.

A screw driver found in Gracey's possession by Inspector Thomas B. Werner, in whose district Gracey was arrested on Monday, was yesterday reported by Werner to fit every impression made on doors and windows of houses robbed on the South Side during the last six months. Inspector Werner had Mrs. Mary Powell identify Gracey. Mrs. C. B. Cook, wife of Prof. Cook of the South Side high school, identified a lot of jewelry stolen from her home, 156 Industry street, on April 28. Among the articles identified by Mrs. Cook as belonging to her is a diamond ring, amethyst ring set with brilliants, plain and gold wire rings, ruby ring, watch charm, brooch, gold pen and holder, badge marked Company K, Fourteenth regiment, and a lot of old coins. Mrs. William C. Davidson of Lilliam street, whose home was robbed May 13, identified a brooch and a pearl crescent, and Mrs. E. E. Pigley identified a gold watch, gold bracelet and gold heart. J. G. Burford of 704 College avenue, East End, identified two gold rings and other jewelry.

A number of people whose homes have been robbed called at police headquarters last night to look at the jewelry recovered from Gracey's rooms, but as Supt. of Detectives McQuaide had been called from his office last night those who called were unable to see the jewelry, as it was locked up. Some of those who called had not reported being robbed till last night.

Prof. Cook, W. C. Davidson and Mrs. Mary Powell notified Inspector Werner yesterday that they will call at the police station today and enter charges against Gracey. Five persons told Supt. McQuaide they intend to prefer charges against Gracey. The Rev. George E. Hawes of 30 Kirkpatrick street, Braddock, thinks Gracey is the man who robbed his house last Wednesday night, and has arranged to look at the prisoner.

NEW TROLLEY LINE FOR SQUIRREL HILL DISTRICT

Twenty-Third Ward Councilmen Plan to Open and Improve Streets Over Which Cars Will Run.

A cross-town trolley line from North Homestead and Swissvale through Hazelwood and the Squirrel Hill district to Forbes street is the project of councilmen and residents of the Twenty-third ward, who are back of a movement to open up a number of thoroughfares which have been selected as the route for the new line.

Ordinances were introduced in councils Monday night by Councilman C. C. Kohne for the widening of Johnson street, Twenty-third ward, from Second avenue to a block east of Mansion street. Johnson street is also to be extended through private property to Blair street for the route of the new trolley line, and thence on to North Homestead and Swissvale. Ordinances are also pending in councils for the grading and paving of other streets in the Twenty-third ward.

It is planned to build the line from North Homestead and Swissvale by the way of Johnson street, Glenwood avenue, Gidding street, Hazelwood avenue, Winterburn avenue, Greenfield avenue, and Murray avenue to Forbes street, to connect with the Monongahela line.

In addition to the projected street car line, extensive changes are proposed in the Twenty-third ward by the relocation of Second avenue from Allegheny street to the city line, and the removal of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks to the present location of Second avenue. This is to abolish a grade crossing and to give Second avenue firmer foundation at that point where it verges on the river front. The course of Second avenue is to be moved about 50 feet nearer the hill and the railroad tracks shifted to the other side of Second avenue toward the river.

The average speed, deducting for stops, was 70.9 miles an hour.

REOPENS INVESTIGATION OF THE EQUITABLE LIFE

Superintendent of Insurance to Include the Ryan Syndicate in His Report.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 13.—Under pressure from those who believe the recent purchase of a majority of James H. Hyde's Equitable stock by Thomas F. Ryan and his "association policyholders" should be included in the report of the state superintendent of insurance, Mr. Hendricks today practically reopened his investigation, and his report will bring the whole Equitable situation up to date.

The executive committee will meet tomorrow, and if the program arranged tonight is carried out, the three trustees, Grover Cleveland, Morgan J. O'Brien and George Westinghouse will be present at the session. That the proceedings will be of the most important character is indicated in a letter from Elihu Root of counsel for James H. Hyde, written in response to an invitation to make an address. Mr. Root says:

With very great regret I find that an important and critical meeting of the Equitable Life, which is to occur on Wednesday, will make it absolutely necessary for me to remain in town during that day. I should not allow any ordinary demand to interfere with my engagement, but this is a matter which is urgent and peremptory, involving enormous interests toward which I have assumed a very serious responsibility. The crux of the whole affair may come on that day, and the people who are depending upon me are entitled to have me here to direct their action.

Paul Morton returned tonight from Washington and will meet the three recently-appointed trustees tomorrow before the executive committee goes into session. It is understood that the chairman has certain recommendations to make which he will first submit to the trustees, whose first duty it will be to fill the vacancies now existing in the board.

BERT BACHMAN IS BACK. CLARK GOES HIS BAIL

County Commissioner and the Defendant Return from Canada—Denial of Rumored Partnership.

Bert Bachman, whose Station street gambling house was raided by County Detective Robert G. Robinson's men on Saturday night, returned yesterday from Canada with County Commissioner James A. Clark. An information charging Bachman with keeping a gambling house had been made against Bachman by Robinson and Bachman had been informed by his friends by telegraph of the fact.

About noon yesterday Clark appeared at Alderman Toole's office and went out with Constable Joyce. Joyce shortly afterward returned and said Clark had promised to produce Bachman later and provide bail for him. Still later in the day Bachman gave bail. His resort in the East End is closed up. Bachman was not in his usual haunts in the East End last night, and it was reported that, tired from his Canadian outing, he had gone to bed early.

Commissioner Clark said he knew Bachman as a reputable citizen, who had often served at Democratic conventions as a delegate for Clark. Therefore, Clark said, there was no reason why he should not accompany Bachman on the trip to Canada. Clark was told there were reports in circulation alleging that he had an interest in Bachman's place. "To this he replied, tartly:

"Those reports are absolutely false. I would go on the stand and swear to that."

Director Moore is convinced that Police Inspector McEvoy knew nothing of the existence of Bachman's resort, but he intends to find out why the policemen on the beat was equally ignorant.

SERIOUS CHARGE IS MADE.

Man Acused of Having Attacked an 11-Year-Old Girl—Served Two Years for Similar Crime.

For the second time in his life William George, aged 48 and married, of Fourth street, Sharpsburg, was yesterday committed to jail on a serious charge. William Gamble, a neighbor of George's, charged George before Justice Saint with having attacked his 11-year-old daughter, Amelia, on Sunday, June 4. The child, it is alleged, visited the George house during the absence of the man's wife and sister. The little girl kept the matter secret until a few days ago, when she confided in her mother.

Gamble did not hear of the affair until yesterday morning, when he was with difficulty persuaded to refrain from violence, and have the man arrested. Feeling is so high among the friends and relatives of the girl that it was considered the best policy to take George at once to the county jail.

George is well-known in Sharpsburg, where he has worked as a carpenter for many years. He was arrested seven years ago, charged with having attacked an eight-year-old girl. He was found guilty in each of three trials, and served two years in the penitentiary.

Patrick's Hopes Vanish.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 13.—The court of appeals today refused to grant a stay of execution of the death sentence to permit a motion for reargument in the case of Albert T. Patrick, convicted of the murder of William M. Rice. The court, which will adjourn Friday until October, will fix the date of execution before its adjournment.

BANKING CONCERN OUSTS CARLISLE

Drops Former Secretary of Treasury from Presidency and Severely Censures Him.

PITTSBURGHER IS A DIRECTOR

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

KITTERY, MAINE, June 13.—Former United States Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle was ousted as president of the Bankers' Corporation at the annual meeting of the corporation held here today. Former Gov. J. Q. A. Brackett of Massachusetts and Walter I. Badger, a Boston lawyer, were dismissed as directors, reversing the action of a year ago.

Stock issued to John G. Carlisle, Thomas D. Taylor, V. S. Pettingill and J. Q. A. Brackett, under the head of "6,500 shares for services, etc.," was declared illegally issued, since no services could be rendered when no business was ever transacted, and a "committee of resitution" was appointed to use legal means to recover it.

In the heated meeting Messrs. Carlisle, Brackett and Badger were censured for accepting salaries and not returning subscriptions to stockholders, when the amount subscribed was not sufficient to begin business. Dissatisfied stockholders, led by L. Trevor Lewis of New York, got control of the meeting after a fight of nearly five hours, by establishing a precedent in not recognizing bonus stock proxies, held by W. H. Drury, representing Walter I. Badger and Thomas D. Taylor, which gave stock control to the Lewis combination.

The corporation was incorporated in Kittery in 1902 with a capital stock of $8,000,000, nothing paid in, and with the object of buying up trust companies and opening branch banks throughout the country. The letter addressed to Messrs. Carlisle, Brackett and Badger was in part as follows:

"When it was found you had not received sufficient subscriptions to begin doing business it was your duty to return our subscriptions in full. Instead, you accepted the following sums in cash as salaries: John G. Carlisle, $4,000; J. Q. A. Brackett, $2,500, and Walter I. Badger, $2,500. These three items amount to more than a tenth of the whole amount subscribed."

Introductory to the naming of the "restitution committee" it was stated that of $88,200 subscribed by stockholders for the sole purpose of establishing 40 trust companies in 40 cities, $69,570.38 had been disbursed during the first two years, of which the directors received $57,217.64, and that the balance of $12,352.74 was disbursed by the same directors in payment of office clerks and traveling, personal and legal expenses that were of no value to the stockholders.

In place of 11 directors the board was reduced to five, and the following elected: E. P. Holdridge, Francis C. Willie, Jacob W. Michel and L. Trevor Lewis of New York, and M. A. Rourke of Pittsburgh.

MILWAUKEE WANTS TO BRING ABOUT PEACE

Wisconsin Metropolis Makes a Bid to Become Famous for Something Else than Beer.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, WIS., June 13.—The Japanese-Russian war may be settled in Milwaukee. This is no joke, but solemn, sober earnest. When the city officials and officers of the various boom associations of Milwaukee read in the morning papers that Count Cassini and Minister Takahira were telling Mr. Roosevelt that a reason why the war should not be settled in Washington was because the nation's capital was too hot in the summer months, they put their heads together. Therefore a message was sent to both, signed by the mayor, the Citizen's Business league and the Merchants Manufacturers' association. This was the tenor of the message:

"Please make Milwaukee famous for something else than beer. Settle the war here. It is never too hot in Milwaukee. The thermometer's rampages into the hundreds of degrees are checked by the neighborhood of Lake Michigan. Please end the war here."

FRAUD ORDER FOR ELTON REALTY CO.

Pittsburgh Concern Meets Disfavor of Postoffice Department at Washington.

ALLEGE TRICK IN LAND SALES

A fraud order was issued yesterday against the Elton Realty Company of No. 434 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh, by Postmaster General Cortelyou on account of the methods used by this concern in disposing of certain New Jersey real estate. It is alleged in the reports of the postoffice inspectors that the Elton Realty Company has been representing that worthless timber land, which it is offering for sale, is "splendid, level building lots."

By filling out a form printed in the firm's advertisement, it is represented that prospective customers are given an opportunity to draw a "lucky number, which will entitle them to one of these lots free." Invariably, it is alleged, those who embark upon this enterprise are informed in due time that they have drawn a lucky number. All that is then required for the holder of one of these "lucky numbers" is to remit $2.50, which, it is claimed, covers the cost of the legal process of securing a deed for the lot. But the government inspectors alleged that this is only a ruse to swindle the public out of $2.50, as the lots are absolutely without value.

There is also some mystery as to the identity of the "Elton Realty Company." At the office of the company it was stated that the officers of the concern are E. P. Elton, president, and Walter Becker, manager. After a careful investigation the inspectors are led to the conclusion that E. P. Elton is a myth. The owner of the land offered for sale is Gustave Becker of Camden, N. J., and his son Walter is alleged to be not only the manager, but also the entire "Elton Realty Company." There are 600 acres in the tract that is owned by the elder Becker, and it is said he and his son are attempting to place it upon the market in a manner that amounts to obtaining money under false pretenses.

The offices of Walter Becker are on the second floor of No. 434 Fourth avenue. The name "Elton Realty Company" appears on the directory of offices at the entrance to the building. It was impossible to locate Mr. Becker last evening.

A. G. Sala, proprietor of the French restaurant at Third avenue and Grant street, said last evening that he had known Mr. Becker for about seven years, since the time Becker had first come to Pittsburgh to enter the real estate business. He said Becker had made a success of the business and he considered him very bright and straight.

BABY'S ECZEMA

Top of Head Covered With Scales Which Peeled Off, Taking Hair With Them.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Now Six Years Old With Thick Hair and Clean Scalp. Cure Permanent.

"My baby was six weeks old when the top of her head became covered with thick scales, which would peel and come off, taking the hair with it. It would soon form again and be as bad as before. My doctor said it was Eczema, and prescribed an ointment, which did no good. I then tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed her head in warm water and Cuticura Soap and gently combed the scales off. They did not come back and her hair grew out fine and thick. She is now a year and a half old, and has no trace of Eczema."

MRS. C. W. BURGES, Iranistan Ave., Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 21, 1898.

MUST USE WIDE TIRES ON ROADS

Commissioners Make Rules to Protect the Improved Highways of the County.

GO INTO EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1

Rules regulating and restricting the use of the improved roads have been prepared by the county commissioners and will become effective September 1, 1905. This action is in accordance with the act of April 22, 1905, that Commissioner James Evans succeeded in having put through the legislature.

The rules compel the use of tires ranging from 2¼ to 6 inches in width. The breadth is regulated by the weight of the load. The regulations are so drawn that a farmer can use the roads to a limited extent without making alterations in his vehicles. The new rules are as follows:

1. No person shall within any calendar week transport as many as three loads upon any given portion of the specially improved county roads, unless the wheels of the vehicles used shall be provided with tires of the breadth specified for the weights of said loads, respectively.

(a) Where the load does not exceed 1,500 pounds, the tire shall not be less than 2¼ inches broad.

(b) Where the load exceeds 1,500 pounds, but not 4,000 pounds, the tires shall not be less than 3¼ inches broad.

(c) Where the load exceeds 4,000 pounds, but not 5,000 pounds, the tires shall not be less than 4 inches broad.

(d) Where the load exceeds 5,000 pounds, the tires shall not be less than six inches broad.

2. No person shall use a chain or any other than a steel shoe "dead lock" on the said improved county roads.

3. No person shall wilfully place dirt, stone, rubbish or debris of any kind on said improved county roads or in any manner obstruct the drainage thereof.

Any person who shall be guilty of violating any of the foregoing rules, for each and every violation shall pay a pecuniary penalty of $10, to be recovered as provided in said act of association approved April 22, 1905.

Commissioner Evans says that sufficient notice will be given of the adoption of these rules and the teamsters are expected to have their wagons properly equipped by September 1.

"TECH" SCHOOL AWARDS NOW TOTAL $655,000

Cost of Construction, With All Building Contracts Let, Is Considered Very Low.

With the award of the last construction contract announced in The Gazette of yesterday, the cost of erecting the three buildings and the connecting corridors which will house the Carnegie Technical school, is known within rather narrow limits.

The contracts have all been let for the construction of the buildings and corridors, for the power house and its equipment, for the plumbing, heating and electric wiring of the structure. They total, approximately, $655,000.

The purchase of the equipment of the schools, such as the machinery and other appliances in the shops, the furniture, etc., remains yet to be accomplished and when finished will mean a large addition to the figure given above.

When the building permit was taken out it was stated that the buildings would cost $700,000. It is shown that that figure was a fairly close estimate of the expense of construction.

Remarkable results have been attained in the building of the "Tech" on account of the spirited bidding which has been obtained. In each case there have been several well-known contractors after the work, and a low price has been necessary. It has been stated by contractors who were unsuccessful that they do not believe there is profit in the work for the winner.

NEW TRACTION LINE.

Pittsburgh Railways Company to Run Cars Over Additional Routes—Short Ride to Wilkinsburg.

Two important changes in the operation of trolley cars will go into effect tomorrow. An entirely new line—East and West Wilkinsburg via Forbes street—will be put on, and the city terminus of the new Homestead via East Liberty route has been extended to Cecil alley from Twenty-second street.

Recently the railways company secured additional track facilities in Wilkinsburg. The new line is the result. Coming into Pittsburgh the cars will start from Swissvale and Franklin streets, which is also the starting point of the Frankstown cars, run along Franklin, Mulberry, Kelly and Peebles street to Forbes street, thence over Squirrel hill to Sixth avenue, down Fifth avenue to Wood street, and up Sixth avenue to Forbes, returning east over the same route. This line will make a complete loop of Wilkinsburg and will not only be a benefit to Wilkinsburg, but will give Squirrel Hill people who object to riding in Homestead cars another line. It will be a much shorter route from the city to Wilkinsburg, the time being 45 minutes, against 52 minutes via the Frankstown cars.

The line of cars recently put on between Munhall and Penn avenue and Twenty-second street, beginning tomorrow, will run between Cecil alley and Munhall during the day, and between Cecil alley and Kennywood Sundays and every evening. The cars will carry a sign reading "Munhall-Pittsburgh, via Shady and Penn avenues." The first car for Kennywood in the evening will leave Cecil alley at 6:09, and there will be a car every 12 minutes thereafter.

FOR AND AGAINST "COMPS."

Opinions of Director Bigelow and Director Moore Differ on Question of Theatrical Passes.

Officials and employes of the department of public works of the city of Pittsburgh henceforth must accept no passes to theaters or other places of amusement, on pain of dismissal. Officials and employes of the department of public safety will be allowed to accept as many passes as they like. Director Bigelow has just issued an emphatic pronunciamento regulating the action of the public works employes, declaring that the taking of passes is a detriment to the service. Director Harry Moore spoke for the public safety department on the same question, saying:

"If Director Bigelow believes the employes of his department can be influenced by theater passes, he certainly should forbid such practices. In the public safety department, however, such an order would not be necessary."

BELL MAY ACCEPT THE SHORT TERM

Probable the Banker Will Agree to Serve as Commissioner Until January 1.

ANNOUNCE RULES IN JULY

John A. Bell is not ready to announce whether he will accept appointment on the board of county commissioners. Even should he agree to perform the duties until January 1, it is not probable he will become a candidate for the Republican nomination for the full term.

Chairman Ford was asked yesterday for a list of the Republicans who are known to be putting delegates in the field for the September primaries. He named these men: For judge of common pleas court No. 2, Judge James S. Young; recorder, Senator John W. Crawford and Harvey A. Lowry; register, F. W. Edwards and A. S. Miller; treasurer, George W. Foster; clerk of courts, Capt. John A. Reed and Richard M. Kopp; prothonotary, William B. Kirker; county commissioners, W. W. Murray, Frank J. Klumpp, A. C. Gumbert, John W. Moreland and I. K. Campbell. So far there are no candidates for controller.

Mr. Ford expects that the new rules for the government of the party in the county will be announced by the middle of July. This will be in sufficient time so that all can be familiar with them when the September primaries are held. The sub-committee preparing the new rules for the county, Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport, has requested it be relieved of drafting the rules for the government of borough and township primaries. Chairman Ford has decided to put this work into the hands of five men selected from the three country legislative districts. They will be supposed to be familiar with the wants of the boroughs and townships.

When the new rules are prepared, the ones effecting the county will have to be adopted by the county committee. Those drawn for Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport will be passed on by the respective city committees. There is no central body to pass on the rules for the boroughs and townships and they can be accepted or rejected as the Republican committees in the several boroughs and townships may elect. The judges of the local courts have on several occasions advocated the adoption of party rules for the government of the party in the rural communities. When election contests are carried into court from boroughs and townships, the judges find that there are no party rules in force.

Charles B. Payne of Duquesne, a Democrat, who has been prominent in the Sixth legislative district for a number of years, is mentioned as a fusion candidate for register. Mr. Payne is a lawyer, and is in good favor with the Clark-Brennen machine. Should he be selected, F. X. Barr would either have to accept a re-nomination for clerk of courts or quit running for office.

The fight between Mayor Falkenstein of McKeesport and his meat and milk inspector, J. J. Murphy, continues. The executive has tried to oust Murphy and name F. W. Steckle. Select council has twice refused to confirm and holds that Murphy is still in office. Yesterday the mayor refused to recognize Murphy when he tried to make an information against a merchant for selling preserved meat. The inspector had to go before Alderman Mansfield. Falkenstein insists he will remove Murphy.

The Fourteenth ward Citizens party committee met in the Oakland police station last night and organized by the election of M. J. Ehrenfeld, chairman; Matthew Kinzer, vice chairman, and A. T. Bender, secretary.

WILL MAKE THEIR BEER.

Pittsburgh Saloonkeepers Back Mutual Brewing Company of Irwin.

A charter has been granted the Mutual Brewing Company, an enterprise backed mainly by Pittsburgh saloonkeepers who intend to erect a brewery of their own at Irwin. By going to Irwin they comply with the provisions of the Brooks law, forbidding a liquor licensee from being interested in a brewery in the same county.

Among those interested are Charles S. Black, of 606 Liberty avenue; Jacob Jacobs and John Lawler. The plan is being promoted by a New Yorker, who is said to have enlisted 20 Pittsburgh saloonkeepers in the movement.

In Chicago a street car and railroad train were in collision yesterday with the usual results. The moral is obvious but will bear constant repetition. In the present state of engineering science it is a disgrace that crossings exist where trains and trolley cars can meet at the same grade.

W. C. Campbell of Homestead, who suffered fracture of his bones and risked his life to save that of a child unknown to him, is a hero. Whether or not he gets a medal, his heroism needs to be borne in careful remembrance by his fellow men. His act merits praise and grateful recognition.

Flint glass manufacturers are not sharing in the general prosperity, by their own statements. They are suffering from over production, due largely to the operation of non-union factories with blowing machines and are putting out their fires for an indefinite period. This is an unfortunate condition of affairs, but it can hardly affect other lines of business seriously and will adjust itself presently on a different basis.

Since the decision of the supreme court of the United States sustaining the constitutionality of the New York law taxing the value of franchises held by corporations, the corporations have been paying up and New York city especially is getting a large additional revenue. The receipts from this source amounted to $2,000,000 on Tuesday. The same source of revenue is open to the public all over the United States by means of similar legislation.

Announcement that work will be begun at once on additional trackage for the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad affords another indication of the importance of Pittsburgh traffic. It is said in this connection that ultimately this road is to have four tracks for its entire length in order to properly accommodate both its passenger and freight business. It will be the shortest four-track railroad in the world and it already carries the largest tonnage in proportion to its mileage.

The last contract has been let for the Carnegie technical school buildings that are to be completed by next fall. These represent an aggregate outlay for structures and equipment of more than $650,000, and a considerable employment of labor. The next business will be to secure competent instructors and this has been begun by the director. Pittsburgh will have, next winter, one of the leading technical schools in the country and more ambitious pupils than it can accommodate.

Good results should attend the action of the Sixteenth ward school board in choosing teachers for the longest term the law allows. This term is three years. Teachers so chosen are freed from annoyance to an extent that leaves them free to give their best energies to the schools. It would be a welcome reform if this rule could be generally adopted in the cases of tried and true instructors, leaving no chance for politics to intrude to hamper the cause of education. A good teacher should never be left in doubt about the tenure of place.

The kaiser's interference in Morocco has quite won over the sultan, and the combined influence of the British and French envoys amounts to nothing alongside that of the German envoy, whose influence is all-powerful. The situation is almost as awkward for England as it is for France, as by the terms of the Anglo-French agreement England is bound to assist France in the execution of its policy. The kaiser has shown them both that they reckoned ill when they left him out. Probably a consideration which weighed heavily with Russia in disposing her to accept our president's peace offer is that she cannot afford to be tied up with the Manchurian war when the Moroccan question and the breach between Norway and Sweden are portending disturbance in Europe.

Municipal Accounts.

The resolution passed by common council authorizing the employment of the city auditor to collect special revenues from corporations is, of course, much better than doing nothing at all and letting money due the city get away because no one looks after it, but it falls far short of proper business methods. Controller Larkin has heretofore explained that scattered through old ordinances are stipulations for payments to the city for various privileges granted, but no regular business account of them has been kept, and councils have not responded to his request for additional employes to keep track of these items. Councilman Roegnik discovered that the city's system of bookkeeping contains no accounts in which the dues from corporations and individuals for franchises are charged against them and special research is necessary to list these sources of revenue.

What would be thought of a business management which goes along without ever having a schedule of assets or liabilities or ever getting off a general balance sheet! That is just the condition in Pittsburgh today, and until recently that has been the situation generally among American municipalities. The first principle of sound business is sound accountancy, and an essential feature of movements for the improvement of municipal administration should be the introduction of a proper system of accounts. The census bureau and the National Municipal league have a method of classification which was introduced in Baltimore under the new charter, and has recently been adopted in Minneapolis as a feature of the new system prepared by a prominent firm of chartered accountants employed for that purpose. The first annual report of the city controller under that system has been issued, and the clear exhibit it makes of the financial condition of the city is in marked contrast with the financial reports issued in Pittsburgh and most other cities. The improvement in the credit of a city which must result from the ability to present to investors so clear and comprehensive a statement of its condition would make the adoption of the system a large paying investment, to say nothing of the gains that would result from the stoppage of losses through sheer ignorance and neglect, such as have been going on in Pittsburgh.

Chesapeake Bay Maneuvers.

It is difficult for non-professionals to appreciate the value of such maneuvers now going on in Chesapeake bay. The make-believe character of the operations, the theoretical sinking of vessels and the tremendous engagements in which no one is hurt, readily lend themselves to ridicule. The dead are like those in stage combats, who come to life before the curtain falls and go cheerfully to refreshment from their dying agonies. We read how the garrison at Fort Howard are sleeping on their guns and when an attempt at surprise was made by an early morning attack, the gunners beat back the supposititious enemy, sinking several destroyers and putting a battleship out of action, whereas, in fact, they retired as safely as they came.

It so happened that alongside of the report of this mimic warfare in yesterday's Gazette appeared an account of real warfare in which the value of such practice and drill as are now taking place in Chesapeake was illustrated with thrilling force. The account given in Associated Press dispatches from Vladivostok of the plight of the Russians in the recent battle from the lack of just such training shows how vital it is to success. The information came from the Russian officers themselves, and it makes clear the causes of the destruction of the Russian fleet, while it was unable to inflict any serious damage upon its opponents. The Russians were brave enough and could die heroically, but they were untrained in gunnery and in fleet evolutions. Their fire was wild, and ships got in one another's way. Meanwhile the Japanese were working with the precision gained by careful practice. Their fire was concentrated upon one ship until she was put out of action and then transferred to another, and thus the Russian battle lines were methodically mowed down until the terrible harvest was complete.

The Chesapeake bay maneuvers reproduce the actual conditions of warfare so far as movements are concerned, and cultivate the state of efficiency without which the possession of ships and guns are useless except as provocation to disaster. In this respect the Japanese war has simply repeated and emphasized the lessons of the Spanish war. The money spent upon drill and practice is the most useful naval expenditure as it is essential to the efficiency which makes naval power the surest guarantee of peace.

Great Conflict Begins.

By the reports published early this month there were more than 1,800 wells drilled for oil during the month of May in the United States. Adding those sunk for gas the total will reach nearly, if not quite, to 2,000. The average cost per well may be conservatively estimated at $2,000, or a total investment for the month of at least $4,000,000. As every one knows there must have been greater outlay in other branches of the business to handle the production and get it to market. Though many of the 2,000 wells proved total failures, the more successful are credited with an initial output of 40,000 barrels of oil and 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, about equally divided between the fields of the east and middle west and those of Texas and California.

In magnitude this industry almost equals the production and distribution of coal in this country. In a sense the two are competitors since together they furnish the heat, light and power of American factories and homes, except the comparatively small supply from utilization of water power. Pittsburgh is heavily interested in both and is naturally concerned in the gigantic rivalry, now begun, for control of the distribution and marketing of petroleum. The notorious Standard Oil has a rival in the Shell company and allied interests that presages a battle of millions—an industrial war probably without parallel in history. The conflict will likely touch nearly every citizen in this broad land and will soon be attracting world-wide attention.

Sensational Court Cases.

In the third trial of Police Captain Wilson of Allegheny the jury returned a verdict of guilty, yesterday, with a recommendation to the extreme mercy of the court. The recommendation is construed as a concession to a minority of jurors favoring acquittal. A new trial will be moved and if refused appeal will be taken to the superior court, according to statements by counsel for the defense.

This is the third conviction obtained in the so-called graft cases, growing out of the apparent toleration of vice in Allegheny. It is a full vindication of the judgment of attorneys in charge of the prosecution in deciding to continue calling the cases regardless of previous verdicts. As pointed out by The Gazette the other day, this is the only proper course to pursue since the indictments have been made, for the verdict in one case does not necesarily have any bearing on another. Each defendant in each case has the right of being confronted by his accusers in open court to be acquitted or convicted, according to the law and the evidence, by a jury of his peers.

The strong suspicion that jurors have not been governed by the law and evidence in every instance has found concrete expression in proceedings before the court. Testimony adduced yesterday caused the judges to excuse several talesmen from further duty, and as a result of information made before an alderman another has been held for court to answer a charge of embracery. Taken together these proceedings demonstrate beyond cavil the sincerity of the public prosecutors in their campaign against vice in Allegheny and their determination to have justice. They are the all-sufficient answer to the recent sinister accusation that the graft cases were being prosecuted for political purposes and were crowding out more important criminal procedure. It must be obvious to every good citizen that no more important business can come before this term of court than the effort now being made to vindicate the majesty of the law and to clean the Augean stables.

Tolls to Be Collected.

At last the special revenue committee has done something worth while. It has ordered Auditor Kimball to proceed with the collection of sums due from the traction companies for bridge tolls. The amount involved will probably exceed $200,000, and under the recent decision of the Dauphin county court this money is due to the city. The committee also instructed the auditor to ascertain by what authority Hilltop and tunnel cars have passed over the Smithfield street bridge without paying tolls.

Prior to the arrival of the city controller with the bridge case the committee had heard a report from its chairman that he could obtain no information about the cleaning of streets, and another from the auditor that he had been advised by the mayor to do nothing pending the compilation of data. In short the do-nothing policy that has characterized this committee was strongly in evidence until the controller arrived on the scene. Now that action has been begun there is some hope of effective results.

The lesson of the danger of cluttering fire escapes in crowded tenements has been so well impressed on New York city that a crusade has been started against those who load balconies down with refrigerators and miniature flower gardens. Over 40 women were punished the other day and eight of them had to go to jail on account of inability to pay the fines imposed by the indignant magistrate.

Chicago's trouble over her "baby" seal resolves itself into a question as to whether the baby on the seal is in the proper position to sleep comfortably. The problem to outsiders is how the poor child manages to sleep at all in Chicago.

Three drunks a year is the limit allowed under a proposed ordinance in New York. The fellow who commences in January and doesn't sober up until after Christmas will regard the limit as excessive.

When that naval fleet that attacked Fort Howard in the experimental naval tactics discovers that it has been destroyed there will be trouble.

That colored clergyman in Philadelphia who takes up the collection under the persuasion of a club would doubtless not shy at tainted money.

The Danish West Indies are still agitating the question of United States ownership. Uncle Sam's market basket is already pretty full.

There is a general opinion floating around in Allegheny official circles that this is quite the hottest June we have had in years.

Compared with some other recent revolutions that Norway-Sweden affair was of the gum shoe variety.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

After all the talking and singing, sighing and kissing, a learned and grave man of the world arises and declares there is no such thing as love.

Now what do you think of that, ye men and maids who have felt a peculiar thrill which you thought was love?

And what think you who have been waiting and are still waiting for that thrill with which love stirs up your whole being, heart, soul and body?

Somebody has been fooled, don't you think? Was it you, or the fellow who denies the existence of such a thing as love?

Possibly some of you can set this matter right, seeing that so many of you have experimented with love and have practical knowledge concerning it. And as these experiments have been going on from the days of Eden to the present hour, isn't it rather strange that the status, the power and the true character of love should not have been so well determined and established that there should be no doubt concerning it, at least concerning its existence as a distinct, definite state or condition, or as to whether it is a state or merely a condition of mind and heart?

Mr. Quiet Observer:—Not long since you printed a letter from one who signed himself "Still Waiting," meaning that he is still waiting for love to enter his heart and cause a thrill—an inexpressible sort of thrill or inward quaking, to pervade his whole being, and eventually carry him into the arms of his only true lady love.

Maybe I ought not to do it, for it may give him a shock instead of a thrill, or possibly throw him into a conniption fit, or give him St. Vitus dance, or something of the sort. And yet I think it were better for him to know the truth, even if it should jolt him some.

* * *

This thrilling sort of love is a myth. It is worse—it is a delusion and a snare, and has sadly deluded and ensnared more people than anything else since man's entrance upon earthly life. And I believe that if all of those could be heard who have had more or less experience with it the verdict would be that there is no such thing as the love about which poets and novelists rave and rant.

I know, Mr. Quiet Observer, that such talk is not popular, and if my identity were disclosed I would be in danger of losing what little of my hair is left, but that need not be known for the present, as this is not a personal matter.

That which most persons are pleased to call love is more or less the phenomena caused by physical or animal magnetism—the power of one human magnet over another.

I say more or less, because it is not that alone, but animal magnetism plus respect and admiration.

Animal magnetism causes the thrill your correspondents write about, and constitutes the fascination against which you have often wisely warned your readers.

The magnetic phenomena serves to bring separated bodies together, but it will not hold them together indefinitely. That it does not is clear to those who have been forcibly attracted to each other, as well as to those who have been observing the phenomena long and carefully.

The divorce courts afford abundant evidence on this score, while the lives of many whom we know furnish even more conclusive and more convincing evidence of the fact that animal magnetism or fascination is not a durable, a dependable force.

But it serves a purpose, and a necessary purpose. It brings persons together and renders their association agreeable. If to this is added respect, admiration and confidence, then you have the elements necessary to a lasting and agreeable association. But without these you have only a temporary or passing agreeable feeling. These are the common sense elements, and are to be determined by and through the exercise of judgment, and not by a capricious flout of the feelings.

Now, Mr. Quiet Observer, you have known many instances in which young people, and maybe some not so young, thinking themselves dead in love have rushed into marriage only to find with the close of the honeymoon that they were the victims of fascination—had been completely deluded and cleverly ensnared.

Some of these, many in fact, have had the good sense to make the best of it, just as they would if they had bought something which they thought was a good thing, and then discovered that it was not what they thought it was. Being legally bound they set about fulfilling the terms of their contracts.

My observations lead me to conclude that there are a great many who are simply living up to their contracts, but would be glad if there was some easy and unsensational way by which they could have them set aside.

Had the parties to such contracts given more attention to the common sense elements, respect, admiration and confidence, and less to the magnetic phase, they would have had far less cause for complaint.

Proper mating is the thing, the very essential thing, as you have often shown in your articles. Nature is very exacting, as you know, even to the verge of tyranny. She brings the sexes together through the operation of the force known as animal magnetism. Man having been endowed with reason, judgment and common sense, is supposed to be able to determine the social qualities of those from among whom he selects his mate.

No doubt some, if not many of your readers, will regard this as being heterodox, awfully so, but I believe it to be correct, scientifically correct, and am willing to let it go at that.

ANDREW BRITT.

That is tolerably hot stuff, even though expressed in milder and less technical terms than those used by Miss Britt.

While he differs widely from the popular expression concerning love there is no doubt but he hits some points fairly and sharply. And it is possible that after reading carefully you may agree with him more fully than after a hasty reading. And in all probability you will, after thinking the matter over privately in your own heart, agree with him more fully than you dare to publicly confess.

Anyway, there is food for thought in his letter. It may be rather too strong for some of us whose tastes are rather finicky, but the finicky in nature does not count for much.

But isn't he a bold one to come right out in the open and throw the gauntlet at the very feet of the little god whom we have so long adored, and in whom we have had the utmost confidence?

The following letter from Butler may serve to bring you back to your usual way of feeling:

Mr. Quiet Observer:—I am a reader of The Gazette and am very much interested in your writings and those who write on different subjects.

A friend and I had quite an argument as to whether a girl should accept a young man who proposes the second day after he first meets her. He does not intend that they marry for awhile, only be engaged.

The young lady in the case is not sure in two days that she likes him well enough to engage herself to him, and does not think it proper that he should mention his love to her for some time to come. Still they both think in the two days that they love one another better than any one else they could ever meet.

I would like to hear from some of your readers on this subject, and what you would do if placed in the same case.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 13.—More than a score of millionaires sailed on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. today. Among them were George J. Gould, Col. J. J. Astor, Charles T. Yerkes, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, James Brown Potter, Walter Phelps Dodge, H. H. Sands, Carroll Seligman, Isaac Guggenheim, C. Ledyard Blair, Cass Gilbert, Robert L. Cutting, Frederick Baker, Samuel Spielenburg, H. Sellers McKee, Henry Goldman and Count de Yangiawo. Mr. Gould was accompanied by his private secretary, William S. Mallett, who takes with him several typewriters, as he expects a busy time. When Mr. Gould's party reaches Cherbourg they will be met by automobiles, in which they will proceed to Paris, where they will be the guests of the Count and Countess de Castellane, who have made extensive preparations for their entertainment. After a short stay in Paris Mr. Gould and family will cross the mountains into Switzerland in automobiles, and will return by a different route and cross the English channel to make a short stay in London before they return to America.

Hayden Sands of Haydenville, Mass., a traveler and explorer of the Hudson Bay region, sailed for England today on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. Before sailing he talked enthusiastically of the expedition that Commander Peary is to lead to the Arctic regions, and regretted that the state of his health prevented his accompanying the expedition. "Peary has thought out every detail of the expedition," he said on the pier, "and I have high hopes of his achieving success. He will go north better prepared by personal knowledge and better equipped than anyone who has ever venteured into the hitherto impenetrable ice-bound north."

Heavy Policemen Must Go Afoot.

By order of Commissioner McAdoo the police board of surgeons will soon weigh and take the physical measurements of all the men on the mounted squad, with a view to fixing maximum weight and sizes, so that, considering both the efficiency of the man and the horse, men above the weight to be fixed will be disqualified for mounted duty. The men will be examined by the surgeons in relays to suit the convenience of the service. The examination has nothing to do with retirement, and is simply confined to the above stated conditions. Mr. McAdoo said some time ago he intended to have this examination made because he believed there were too many heavy men riding horses. He then said that he though 180 pounds should be a limit.

Subway Is All Right Again.

After 36 hours' continuous pumping the subway was emptied of water early today and at 25 minutes after 3 o'clock the first through train in a day and a half passed over the section between Fourteenth street and the Grand Central, the part that was flooded by the bursting of a 48-inch water main in Park avenue near Forty-first street. The train was a local. Others soon followed it. When the hours for heavy traffic came, the train service was moving on schedule time, and the road was patronized as if there had been no delay. Though the tracks and equipment in the flooded portion of the tunnel have been restored to a condition in which trains can be safely run over them, much work will be required before that part of the tunnel is in its former condition.

Tombs Victims to Have Ice.

Warden Flynn of the Tombs prison today received a letter from Alexander M. Hadden of Richfield Springs, N. Y., telling him the writer would for the fourth year follow his custom of supplying 350 pounds of ice a day during the hot months for the prisoners in the Tombs and the criminal courts building. This charity does much to alleviate suffering of prisoners and the warden made haste to accept the offer and express his thanks. Mr. Hadden was prime mover in founding a society known as "Friends at Court," which organization was the backer of Rebecca Salome Foster, widely known and loved as the "Tombs Angel," in her charitable work about the prison.

Commodore Bourne's New City Home.

Plans have been filed for a new six-story residence to be erected for Commodore Frederick G. Bourne of Oakdale, L. I., at the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-second street, opposite the Vanderbilt mansion. It is to be 50 feet front in the avenue and 125 in the street, with a facade of white marble, adorned with decorative panels and a marquise entrance. The ground floor will contain the dining-room, the smoking-room and library, the drawing and music rooms occupying the second story, opening off a large hall, with a grand staircase. The cost of the building is to be $500,000.

Curb Brokers Called Nuisances.

For the first time, so far as known, a formal complaint against the curb brokers in Broad street has been lodged with the police commissioner, calling them a public nuisance, and asking that they be "compelled to desist." The police commissioner received a written formal complaint today from the owners of the Standard Trust Company building at 25 Broad street, complaining of them. The owners of the building complain that the noise the curb brokers make is an annoyance and a nuisance, and disturbed the tenants in the building. The police commissioner said he did not yet know what he would do about the matter.

Costs Something to Carry Pistol.

In pursuance of a policy announced some time ago, the justices of special sessions today imposed what may be termed the extreme penalty on a man for having a loaded revolver in his possession. John Cashin was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $250, or serve one day for each dollar not paid. Cashin was arrested at Lexington avenue and Ninety-fourth street, on the morning of June 10. A burglary had been committed in the neighborhood, and it is said that Cashin was seen to fire one shot at a policeman.

PLANT STIMULUS

Experiments With Electricity to Hasten Growth.

The flora of the north polar region is remarkable for rapid growth, fertility and brilliancy of coloring, phenomena which seem incompatible with the climate. For the Arctic summer, though nightless, is very short, the sun is low, and its rays are often intercepted by fog and clouds, so that it cannot furnish an amount of light and heat favorable to very rapid growth. The investigations of Prof. Lemstrom of Helsingfors, and others tend to show that electricity exerts a great influence on the growth of plants, and this view is confirmed by the luxuriant vegetation of the zone of action of that violent electrical manifestation, the aurora borealis. Furthermore, a close connection has been found in Finland between fruitfulness and frequency of auroras. Finally, Lemstrom was led to attribute to the sharp points of plants, such as the beard of grains, the function of "lightning rods," which collect atmospheric electricity and facilitate the exchange of the charges of the air and the ground. In 1898 Lemstrom resumed his experiments with the aid of an improved electrical machine and distributing apparatus. Again he observed remarkable increases of crop—with tobacco 40, potatoes 50, peas 56, sugar 40, carrots 87, grain 25 to 30 per cent.

Using Rods as Conductors.

As it is not practicable to cover fields with electrified nets, and as the influence of atmospheric electricity had been proved, Lagrange and Paulins have recently sought to increase the supply of the latter by setting among the plants galvanized iron rods to serve as conductors, and have thus obtained great increase in crops This, as well as other methods of electroculture, is probably too expensive to be applied to ordinary field crops. But in the cultivation of fruits and vegetables, particularly under the glass, the economic conditions are very different. For as electroculture promises not only greater, but also earlier crops, which command high prices, its introduction would secure to local gardners large sums which now go to the south and would, at the same time, benefit consumers by reducing prices somewhat, though leaving them still remunerative. Floriculture offers another promising field for the application of electrical methods. All this, however, belongs to the future. Much study and experiment and probably many failures must precede the general introduction of electroculture, though the results already obtained are certainly promising.

Producing Chemical Energy.

In what way is the growth of plants effected by electricity? Plants transform the energy of the sun's rays into chemical energy. Though the heat produced by the electrical current may have some direct effect, especially in germination, the electrical energy supplied cannot, in general, replace or even greatly reinforce the energy of sunshine. It is rather to be regarded as a stimulus to metabolism and all the vital processes. One of these is the capillary elevation of water, which is promoted by a positive electric current flowing upward. This is one possible explanation of the promotion of growth by electricity, and though in some cases the best effect is obtained by directing the positive current downward or in the opposite direction to the assumed principal flow of sap, these exceptions may mean that more food is supplied by the leaves than is commonly supposed. Another possibility is an increase in activity in both leaves and roots. The electrical influence on the flow of sap, however, appears to be proved by the fact that electroculture is beneficial only in connection with an abundant supply of water. According to Kermey, there is also an electrolysis of water within the plant, and further experiment may prove the existence of other electrical actions.—Scientific American.

Preserving Michael Angelo's Work.

The work that has been carried on during the last two years in the Sistine chapel, Rome, is now completed. A commission was appointed by Leo XIII. to consult as to the best method of preserving the famous frescoes, especially the work of Michael Angelo on the ceiling. The condition of the frescoes was found to be no worse than that of others of a corresponding age elsewhere, and all that was necessary was the strengthening of the hold of the plaster upon the roof. Metal clamps, T-shaped, were driven here and there through the plaster into the solid roof, preventing any further detachment of the plaster; and the crevices between the plaster and the roof and the interstices and cracks in the plaster itself were filled with a mixture of lime and finely powdered porcelain, so that the frescoes present an even and compact surface. No painting has been done, and no color has been added. During the course of the work the frescoes have been repeatedly photographed as a proof that no change has been effected.

Maintenance of a Big Navy.

From the Washington Post.

The president's reiterated declaration that a large and efficient navy must be built up and maintained by the United States unquestionably meets the approval of the people, who have not entered any objection to appropriations thus far made by congress. The protests that were made in congress against the great increase recommended by the secretary of the navy were effective in reducing the appropriations by many millions, but it was not apparent that the country demanded such a reduction. In fact, it is reasonable to believe, from the tone of public opinion, that an annual appropriation of $100,000,000 for the increase of the navy would be approved, however savagely such an appropriation might be attacked by the opposition for political effect.

Seasickness.

Two congressmen, discussing the discomforts of travel, happened to branch off on the subject of seasickness. One of them said:

"Talk about seasickness; the fellow that traveled with me an my last European trip beat anything I ever met in all my experience before. I tried all sorts of remedies on him but without avail. He kept repeating, 'Oh, I am so sick—I am so sick.'

"Finally I cried out, 'Can't you keep anything on your stomach?'

FLAG DAY

Anniversary of the Adoption of the Stars and Stripes.

When Freedom from her mountain height,
Unfurled her standard to the air,
She tore the azure robe of night,
And set the stars of glory there;
She mingled with its joyous dyes
The milky baldric of the skies,
And striped its pure, celestial white,
Then from his mansion in the sun,
She called her eagle bearer down,
And gave into his mighty hand
The symbol of her chosen land.

—Drake.

This is Flag day, the anniversary of the adoption by congress of a standard for the colonies, and its observance is becoming more general each year by the display of the Stars and Stripes from public buildings. School children have been especially urged to display the flag from their school houses in order to teach the history of the emblem and inculcate a reverence for its symbolic meaning. New York state was the first to take action for the observance of the anniversary, but Philadelphia, where the emblem was first planned, also made a display of the flag on June 14, 1897. Since that time the idea has spread, being given an impetus by the various patriotic societies, including the one organized especially for the purpose of teaching respect for the Stars and Stripes. In the Empire state the governor ordered the flags raised on public buildings at the request of the Sons of the Revolution and the Colonial Dames of America in Philadelphia, not to be outdone, had an observance of their own.

A Uniform Design Selected.

What design predominated in the list of many flags whose patterns contributed to the one finally adopted by congress, may be disputed, but in 1776 the banners of several colonies had the red and white stripes with the British crosses of St. Andrew and St. George in the corner. Several of the flags had a pine tree as an emblem, while the rattlesnake also threatened its oppressors from folds of flags. It is said that when Gen. Washington hoisted his standard at Cambridge, in January 1776, it bore the British emblems in the corner and was taken by the redcoat regiments to mean continued subjection to the crown. The time had come for uniformity in the standard to float over the colonial camps, and in the summer of 1777 George Washington headed a committee to consider the subject. It is a matter of tradition that, accompanied by Robert Morris and Col. George Ross, Gen. Washington called on Mrs. John Ross of Philadelphia, an expert seamstress, to have the flag design that they had prepared, made out of bunting. With the exception of the substitution of a five-pointed star for one of six points, Mrs. Ross copied the suggestions, and it is related that they were adopted by congress. Whatever the circumstances attending the selection of the pattern, congress, in session at Philadelphia, passed the following resolution June 14, 1777:

"Resolved, That the flag of the 13 United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be 13 stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

John Ross was a brother of George Ross and he died a short time after establishing the upholstering business which his widow Betsy was carrying on. There have been many traditions concerning the part this woman had in sewing the first flag, but the main facts were vouched for by her grandson, while the house in which Betsy Ross sewed the first flag, still stands in Philadelphia.

The resolution by congress prescribing the pattern for the flag was not promulgated until September 3, 1777, but the type had been accepted and flags prepared, so that one of them was carried in the battle of Brandywine, September 11, 1777. In the meantime, John Paul Jones had been provided with a new flag for use in the navy, and he could display one when he reached a French port, December 1, 1777. The flag was first saluted by the navy of a foreign power February 14, 1778, when nine guns were fired in honor of the republic, in answer to the 13 from the American vessel.

Little Change in the Pattern.

The design of the flag first adopted has not been changed, except that it was the intention at first to add to the stripes as well as the stars, as each new state was admitted, and it was soon found that this would make the flag itself too wide or the stripes too narrow. When Vermont and Kentucky were admitted to the union congress voted, January 13, 1794, to add a 15th stripe and a 15th star to the flag. But April 4, 1818, congress voted to return to the 13 stripes, but to have a new star added on the July 4 following the admission of each new state. This form has been continued since, although there has been a lack of uniformity in the arrangement of the stars. The blue ground in which the stars appear, however, has continued to be one-third the length of the flag and in the form of a square. Had the original intention of adding new stripes been carried out, the flag would have been a bulky piece of bunting, now that there are 45 states as against 29 in the Mexican war and 35 during the civil war.

There have been many symbolic suggestions drawn from the colors and designs in the flag. When the stars were arranged in a circle to represent the 13 original states, the form was considered emblematic of perpetuity. The red stripes have been taken as emblematic of bravery, the white one of purity and the azure background has been said to tell people to be true. But the average patriot does not analyze the designs on the flag which has become dear to him, because it stands for his country, representing her freedom and prosperity, as well as her power to protect all who have found refuge in her citizenship.

PARK SCHEME IS TO BE DROPPED

Mayor Hays Says Even Director Bigelow Does Not Favor Extra Bond Issue.

CHANGES IN HUMP ORDINANCE

"I am against any bond issue to buy more park land and the ordinance introduced in councils last night will not be approved by the finance committee. Neither will it pass councils," said Mayor Hays yesterday. "The park ordinance would mean the defeat of the hump proposition, and I don't believe that Director Bigelow even favors the park scheme. I can't understand why he permitted the ordinance to be introduced.

"It is certainly not good judgment to load down the hump proposition with such a thing as the purchase of $1,500,000 of park land, especially when the South Side is demanding that it be given better water facilities and no provision has been made for it. The park ordinance will be either recalled from the finance committee or reported to councils with a negative recommendation and killed."

Controller Larkin called upon the mayor yesterday morning to declare he was ready to begin war if the administration attempted to pass the park bill.

"The mayor assured me that the ordinance would not pass," said the controller, "and I am satisfied that he means what he says."

Bigelow Made a Blunder.

Councilmen generally were greatly astonished Monday night when the park ordinance was introduced in councils, not believing Director Bigelow would carry the scheme even as far as that. Many, particularly the South Side members, at once announced their intention of opposing the scheme. Mayor Hays said yesterday he believed Director Bigelow had been persuaded to allow the ordinance to be introduced against his own will. The opinion generally among councilmen, city officials and others is that Director Bigelow made a serious mistake and the blunder will cost the hump project many votes.

Mr. Bigelow left the city yesterday at noon for the east and is expected to return tomorrow. It said a meeting of the finance committee would probably be held on Friday to approve the hump ordinance and common council would probably be called for Monday. Select will meet after the lower branch has acted finally.

Some amendments will probably be offered to the hump ordinance. The bill does not name all the streets and alleys to be regraded in the hump district, as did the original hump ordinance, which was drawn last year, but withdrawn for a substitute which omitted the names of the streets. The present ordinance merely provides for the regrading of Fifth avenue from Smithfield to Tunnel street and for the regrading of connecting streets and alleys to conform with the new grade of Fifth avenue.

May Mean Another Bond Issue.

It is claimed by those objecting to the form of the ordinance that this is a loophole to give the administration the chance of starting the removal of the hump at a cost exceeding $2,000,000, as this amount will not be sufficient for the regrading of all the streets, and after the improvement is under way an aditional bond issue can then be more easily obtained, otherwise the improvement would stop half completed.

The question of damages and benefits to property will also receive some attention. There is no mention of either of these items in the ordinance. Director Bigelow has said he has secured a number of waivers of damages from property owners, but he has not exhibited them. Last year he gave the names of those who he claimed had signed waivers, but even his list represented only a small minority of the property frontage in the hump district.

It was rumored about city hall yesterday that Mr. Bigelow had gone east to consult with Mr. Frick about the hump scheme, preparatory to securing his signature to a waiver and getting a statement to make to the finance committee on Friday.

TRIAL ON BUT ONE CHARGE.

Police Superintendent Wallace Accused Only of Unbecoming Conduct.

Inspector McEvoy's Statement.

Superintendent of Police Wallace will have a hearing before Mayor Hays and Director Moore this afternoon at 4 o'clock. He will be tried on the one charge of conduct unbecoming an officer. Attorneys Marron and Haymaker, who lodged the complaint, say it would be unfair to Wallace to lodge other charges against him at this time.

Both attorneys inferred there will be other charges made against Wallace later. It is known an investigation has been made of Supt. Wallace's management of the police bureau.

Inspector McEvoy yesterday assured Director Moore that he knew nothing of the existence of the Station street gambling house, which was raided Saturday night by the county detectives. Although the resort was within a stone's throw of the Frankstown avenue station house, where McEvoy makes his headquarters, that official declares he did not know there was an establishment of that kind in his district. When Director Moore placed McEvoy in charge of the East End district, he said:

"McEvoy knows every alley and corner of that district, and will keep burglars and gamblers away."

SOLDIERS ARE CONFIDENT.

Grand Army Men Expect Jury and Court to Approve Memorial Plans.

The grand army committee having in charge the plan to erect a memorial hall, will submit the project to the grand jury on Monday. If formally acted on, the matter will then be ready for the approval of court. It will be disposed of by Judges Kennedy, McClung and Evans.

Under the new law, two grand juries and the court must approve and then the proposition must be submitted to the voters of the county. The old soldiers are confident there will be no hitches in the program, and that the final indorsement will be received from the people in November. The total cost of the memorial, including the site, is figured at $1,250,000.

AMERICA AND ENGLAND AWAIT FRANCE'S DESIRE

Former Has Not Been Asked to Morocco Conference, but This Is Attitude.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 13.—Great Britain, as one of the powers signatory to the Madrid convention of 1880, in answer to the request of the sultan of Morocco to join an international conference for the consideration of the Moroccan question, has announced that its preference is not to take any part in the conference unless such action would be satisfactory to France. The United States has taken the same stand.

BERLIN, June 13.—The German foreign office says the United States and Great Britain have not declined the invitation of the sultan of Morocco, to send delegates to a conference on Morocco, but only have indicated that they will wait until it is seen what France will do.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Having no great interest in Morocco, the state department is not particularly anxious to participate in an international conference. However, should all the powers join such a conference and an invitation be extended to the United States, which has not been done, this government might accept the invitation. The preference of the United States is not to take part unless such action would be satisfactory to France. This government in a measure recognized French influence in Morocco when it sought that government's aid more than a year ago in the rescue of Ion Perdicaris.

LARKIN SPOILS GAME TO DELAY

Controller Compels Roenigk's Committee to Take Up Collection of Trolley Tolls.

DEBTS DUE CITY FOR YEARS

Councilman A. G. Roenigk and his special committee on corporation revenue wanted yesterday to suspend operations for some reason or other, but Controller Larkin spoiled the program by appearing on the scene with a claim against the traction companies for tolls on the Smithfield and Point bridges, and politely demanded that the claim be put in the hands of his auditor, F. A. Kimball, for collection. This the committee finally agreed to.

The revenue committee was called to meet at 3 o'clock yesterday and promptly at that hour Chairman Roenigk called it together in the mayor's reception room. The mayor was expected to be present, but he hurriedly left the office just five minutes before. Director Bigelow also found it convenient to be out of the city at the time. Chairman Roenigk, Charles Gulland, and P. J. Barry were present. The meeting did not last five minutes.

Mr. Roenigk said he had no new claims against the corporations to present to the committee, although he made a speech in common council the night before declaring the committee expected to bring hundreds of thousands of dollars of additional revenue into the city treasury. Mr. Roenigk said he had been unable to see the city solicitor in regard to the validity of claims against the corporations.

Mayor Advises Delay.

City Auditor Kimball also made a significant report. He said he had been unable to secure data from Director Bigelow regarding the amount of money the traction companies owe the city for the cleaning of snow and dirt from the tracks in the streets. Mr. Kimball said he had consulted with the mayor about the matter, and the mayor had advised him to do nothing for a while. Then a motion was made to adjourn to meet again at the call of the chair. This seemed to be satisfactory to all around, and it was unanimously carried.

As the members of the committee were going out of the door, Controller Larkin walked in and seemed astonished that the meeting had so soon adjourned, and that no business had been done.

"Come back. I have something very important to submit to you," said the controller. The members at first demurred, but after considering, consented to return and the meeting was resumed. Controller Larkin presented a typewritten statement, which was read. He urged that the city auditor be instructed to investigate the city's financial relations with the traction companies using the Point and Smithfield street bridges, and asked that steps be taken to collect tolls from these companies.

Companies Which Pay No Tolls.

He particularly requested that an investigation be made to ascertain by what right the Hilltop and Mt. Washington tunnel cars use the Smithfield street bridge, and that a charge for tolls be levied on them.

The controller briefly gave a history of the purchase of the two bridges by the city and the litigation that had followed with the traction companies. He stated that in 1880, or thereabouts, an addition was built to the Smithfield street bridge to enable the Pittsburgh & Birmingham Traction Company to facilitate its business. For this purpose the traction company advanced to the bridge company $168,099, to be repaid to the traction companies by credits given on tolls at the rate of not less than $15,000 for each year for the first seven years, and $17,000 for each year thereafter. Seven and one-half cents per car per trip was to be charged. This debt bore 5 per cent interest.

When the bridge was sold to the city the traction company brought suit against the bridge company to recover the amount then remaining unpaid, $152,326, the traction company claiming that the sale of the bridge to the city released the bridge company from its contract. The case was tried in the supreme court and decided against the traction company. Then the traction company, through the state's attorney general, instituted proceedings to revoke the charter of the company held by the city in order to prevent the city from continuing the collection of tolls.

Owes the City $90,000.

On May 30 of this year a decision was handed down in the Dauphin county court against the contention of the traction company. Controller Larkin believes that the claim of the traction company against the bridge company, which was assumed by the city, has been almost paid in tolls and he asks that the matter be adjusted.

He calls attention that when the city bought the Point bridge, in 1896, the West End Street Railway Company, which had previously paid $8,000 a year in tolls, refused longer to pay tolls. The city brought suit in the county court in March, 1896, but the case has never been brought to trial. Action was suspended pending a decision in the Smithfield street bridge case, which was handed down recently. The controller states that the West End Traction Company owes the city in tolls, since 1896, the sum of $72,000 and $18,000 in interest, making a total debt of $90,000.

After referring the controller's letter to the auditor, the committee adjourned to hold the next meeting at the call of the chairman. No date was set. Mr. Larkin, however, is satisfied since the matter was placed in Mr. Kimball's hands, because he is convinced he will not follow the dilatory instructions of the administration, but will proceed at once to collect the tolls if possible.

KING AND SWEDEN ARE TO DECIDE

Ruler Says They Will Say Whether Norway's Recent Act is to Stand.

MAINTAINS RIGHT OF VETO

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN, June 13.—King Oscar in a long and vigorously worded letter to the president of the storthing, M. Berner, declares:

"It remains for Sweden and for me as king of the union to decide whether the attack of Norway on the existing union shall lead to the legal dissolution of that union. Let the present generation and posterity judge between me and the Norwegian people."

He says the accession oath of Norway's king makes it the king's duty not to pass over in silence the pronouncement of the Norwegian council of state on that occasion of his majesty's veto of the consular bill. The king maintains that he did not overstep his prerogatives under the constitution and says that consideration for the union imposes on the king the duty of exercising his constitutional rights. He further says:

"The king of Norway must always bear in mind paragraph 1 of the Norwegian constitution which reads: 'The kingdom of Norway if free, autonomous, independent and indivisible.'"

Not Tool of the Council.

After lengthily repudiating the declaration of the council of state that his veto was unconstitutional because no member of the council regarded himself as being in a position to countersign it, King Oscar proceeds:

"One of the fundamental principles of the constitution and a fact that is most important is that Norway shall be a constitutional monarchy. It is clearly incompatible therewith that the king should sink to the position of a mere tool in the hands of the state council. The position of the king as a monarch of the United Kingdom of Sweden and Norway makes it incumbent upon him not to prejudge as monarch of one kingdom questions affecting the other kingdom."

"The duty of the king on this point cannot be reconciled with the view that one kingdom, through the refusal of its council of state to append a counter-signature, can annul the royal judgment wherein the king refuses to give a decision prejudicial to the other kingdom and injurious to the union.

"If the Norwegian people and the Norwegian nation demand the right to force the king to give a decision which in his opinion conflicts with his duty as monarch of the united kingdoms and king of Sweden, therefore the king of Sweden must become altogether dependent as regards his decisions, upon the will of the Norwegian nation through its council of state.

"The council, after attempting to violate the constitution and to render void a decision of the king of Norway legally given, resigned office, and the king of Norway was deprived of councillors. The storthing approved this breach of the constitution and by a revolutionary proceeding declared that the legitimate king of Norway had ceased to reign and that the union of the two kingdoms was dissolved."

Charge Coming to America.

The Swedish government has dispatched Gustaf Strale to act as charge d'affaires during the absence of Mr. Grip, the present minister at Washington. Meanwhile, it is understood that the affairs of the legation, pending the arrival of Mr. Strale, will be looked after by the Danish minister to the United States, Mr. Brun.

Foreign Minister Gyldenstolpe has sent the following circular letter to all the Swedish-Norwegian consuls: "After the Norwegian storthing had established a provisional government, the Swedish government decided not to recognize said provisional government. You are therefore instructed to continue the exercise of the functions constitutionally devolving on you as Swedish as well as Norwegian consuls with this restriction, that you must not enter into communication with the illegal Norwegian government or obey its orders."

MANY PILGRIMS PAY VISIT TO SHRINE OF ST ANTHONY

Nearly 3,000 People Attend the Services Held in Troy Hill's Famous Chapel.

Pilgrims from near and far visited St. Anthony's chapel on Troy hill, Allegheny, yesterday to offer prayers at the shrine on the feast day of the saint, where hundreds of suffering people found relief from their ills during the pastorate of the late Father Mollinger. Many of the pilgrims who attended the services yesterday in the chapel had been there years ago to find relief. It is estimated that during the day nearly 3,000 people entered the chapel, which was erected by Father Mollinger, who died 13 years ago tomorrow.

Four masses were celebrated at the church, the celebrants being Father Duffner, the rector, at 6 a. m., Father Keller of Etna at 7 a. m., Father A. Fogel of Castle Shannon at 8 a. m., all of which were high masses, while a solemn high mass was celebrated at 9 a. m., the celebrant being the Rev. Father Joseph Suehr, rector of SS. Peter and Paul's church, Larimer avenue, East End. He was assisted at the mass by Father Woelfel as deacon, Father Genald as subdeacon, and Father Heine as master of ceremonies. The Rev. Father J. M. Hehir, C. S. Sp., president of the Pittsburgh College of the Holy Ghost, preached the sermon in English.

At 3 p. m. devotions in honor of St. Anthony were held in the chapel and Father Kirtl of the South Side preached a sermon in German. At 7:30 p. m. devotions and benediction of the blessed sacrament were held in the chapel. At the evening services Father Haeckler preached a sermon in German.

The Death Roll.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Collins.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Collins, prominent in the United Presbyterian church, died last evening at 5 o'clock at his home, 908 Sherman avenue, Allegheny, after an illness of two weeks. Death resulted from heart disease. The deceased was the husband of Mrs. Jane Spear Collins, who won local fame during a crusade some years ago as a temperance reformer and advocate, being arrested several times and lodged in jail by the police for delivering lectures in the streets. She died about two years ago. Dr. Collins was born in Xenia, O., on September 22, 1821. He graduated from Franklin college, New Athens, O., in 1842, and from the Canonsburg (Pa.) seminary in 1846. He was ordained in 1847. He labored as a missionary at Yorkville, Wis., from 1846 to 1850, and while in Wisconsin served two terms in the state legislature. He was pastor of a church in Madison, Ind., from 1860 to 1867, and while there was married to Miss Jane Spear Taylor. For a year he was missionary in Nashville, Tenn., and from 1868 to 1880 he was superintendent of the United Presbyterian board of publication in Pittsburgh. During this time he acted also as a stated supply for churches in Sheffield, Pa., and Colliers, W. Va. He was pastor of the East Palestine, O., church for a year, and became pastor of the church at New Alexandria, O., in 1886, where he remained until his death. While acting as pastor of the New Alexandria church he retained his residence in Allegheny, making weekly trips to his charge. He is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Nancy Cummins, East End; Mrs. Mary Anderson, Xenia, O.; James W. Collins, Xenia, and Dr. Joseph Collins, Philadelphia. Funeral services will be held at the Fourth United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, tomorrow evening, and the interment will take place at Xenia, O.

Archduke Joseph Charles Louis.

Joseph Charles Louis, archduke of Austria and royal prince of Hungary, died yesterday at Vienna. He was born at Pressbourg, Hungary, March 2, 1833. He had always been known as the "Hungarian archduke," and was deeply loved by the Hungarian people, he having passed his boyhood with peasant boys as companions. He tried to do much for the gypsies of Hungary. He mastered the gypsy language and wrote an excellent grammar of this most difficult tongue. He tried to settle the question of gypsy vagabondage by offering to any gypsy who wanted to settle down a good home and help in making a start as an agriculturist, but his efforts failed. In memory of a son who died as the result of a shooting, the archduke and his wife, the Princess Clotilde of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, established an institution for the care of crippled children. He leaves one son, who married the granddaughter of Emperor Francis Joseph. One daughter, Archduchess Marie-Dorothee, is the wife of Philip, duke of Orleans, the pretender to the French throne, a second daughter is the wife of Albert, prince of Thurn and Taxis, and the youngest daughter still is unmarried.

Science Kills the Cause

Science cures Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh; yes, and Consumption in its first two stages. Science is direct; reaching the diseased spot and giving battle at once to the millions of swarming germs. Pure air may help a little, but it can not kill the germs—and the germs must be killed first. When the healing, oily vapors of the Vento-Medic treatment pour into the lungs or channels of the nose and throat, they attack the germs. The vapors mean instant death to the germs and the tearing away of the tissue is stopped. Decay is washed away. Healing, helpful Nature builds up the affected spots into perfect health. The germ army will not come back. The Vento-Medic Treatment makes its wonderful cure of the worst cases of Asthma and Catarrh because it kills the cause.

ASTHMA

HERE IS LIVING, NEARBY PROOF:

These grateful patients owe their health to the Vento-Medic Treatment: Mrs. Mary Walsh, 1024 Windsor St., Allegheny, Pa., suffered 18 years from Asthma, compelled to sleep sitting in a chair. Merrit, 512 Woodward Ave., McKees Rocks, Pa., Asthma in most obstinate form. O. C. Lessing, 209 Cherry St., Allegheny, Pa., coughing made him a shadow. Take the time to see this display to see what a Hoosier Cabinet is, even if you have no idea of buying.

We've looked into this Kitchen Cabinet business and secured the agency of the Hoosier for Pittsburgh and Allegheny because it's unquestionably the best.

There are plenty of men and women who know when they examine a thing whether its mechanical construction is right or not—whether it has practical merit or not—it's this class of people whose opinion we want on the Hoosier Cabinet—and we're confident what their opinion will be—viz.: "the most practical and the best."

SENATOR ELKINS IS UNDER FIRE

He and His Sons Are Accused by Coal Company of Refusing to Supply Cars.

COURT RULES AGAINST THEM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., June 13.—The prominent part which is being taken by Senator Stephen B. Elkins, chairman of the senate committee on inter-state commerce, in the proposed government regulation of railroad rates, made him especially conspicuous in a case which was before the United States court here today. The Morgantown & Kingwood Railroad Company, which is said to be principally owned by Senator Elkins, was the defendant, and upon the petition of the A. C. Fulmer Coal Company a mandamus was issued to compel the railroad company to distribute cars among the mining companies along its line without discrimination.

It was alleged that the Morgantown & Kingwood company had absolutely refused to supply cars for the shipment of the company's coal, although it has a demand for 500 to 600 tons a day; that all the railroad company's cars are supplied to the West Virginia Coal Company, and to one other concern. The petition alleges that David Elkins is president of the railroad, that Stephen B. Elkins, Jr., is vice president, and that Richard Elkins is manager of the coal department. These officers are all sons of Stephen B. Elkins. It also alleges that Stephen B. Elkins is president of the West Virginia Coal Company, and that his sons are interested in it as follows: David Elkins, vice president; Richard Elkins, general manager, and Stephen B. Elkins, Jr., manager of the sales department.

It is alleged that these officers own a large majority of the stock of the railroad, and the West Virginia Coal Company, and that these two companies and the Davis-Elkins Company have combined to break up the Fulmer company and to cause it to be sold at a sacrifice. It is alleged that the railroad and its president have refused to supply any cars to the Fulmer company, although it has repeatedly demanded them and has had empty cars consigned to it by other roads, which the Morgantown & Kingwood road failed and refused to deliver.

It is alleged that various excuses and evasions have been made by the railroad for not furnishing cars, but that the real reason was to break up the business of the Fulmer company. It alleges that its output is 26 per cent of that of all the mines along the Morgantown & Kingwood railroad, and petitioned that the said road should be compelled to supply 26 per cent of all its cars to the Fulmer company. Judge Day tonight upon hearing the petition issued an alternative mandamus, directing the railroad company to furnish 26 per cent of its cars to the Fulmer Coal Company or to appear at Wheeling July 11 and show cause, if it has any, why it should refuse to do so.

ORDER OF RED MEN PROSPERS.

Membership Increases and Finances Are in Good Condition—State Council Meets.

YORK, June 13.—The 46th annual state council of Red Men of Pennsylvania assembled in this city this morning. Reports of committees occupied the entire day. During the year 28 new tribes have been instituted, 10 have disbanded and four councils have been consolidated into two. During the year 11,882 have been admitted to membership and 9,206 have withdrawn. Number of tribes in the state, 432. Total membership of tribes, 63,729.

The finances of the order are reported to be in a prosperous condition. During the year a total of $561,337 was received by the tribes of the state. For the relief of members $198,620 was expended, for funeral benefits $54,418, and for other purposes $202,285. The total investments of the tribes of the state are placed at $1,075,987.

Result of the Equitable Trouble.

It is interesting to note how an institution like The Equitable has undergone the strain of the recent difficulties and the publicity attending them. Few life insurance companies approaching it in magnitude ever had to contend with similar conditions, and policy-holders in all companies will be interested to know how such an institution has stood the strain.

It would not have been surprising had the terminations of the company increased and its new business heavily decreased during the last four months. Imagine, for example, a bank, no matter how strong or large, going through what the Equitable has gone through during the last four months. What bank could have held its old deposits and largely increased them?

The following figures from the official report of Second Vice President Tarbell to the board of directors of June 7th will interest many:

Total issued business first five months 1904	$132,631,721
Total issued business first five months 1905	131,894,696
Decrease first five months 1905. $	737,025
or .0056 per cent.

Much of this business is yet, of course, in process of collection and transmission. Further, more than the entire decrease came entirely from foreign agencies, the business in the United States and Canada having actually increased over the same period of last year.

The business acutally paid for during the first five months of 1905 in the United States and Canadian agencies was.. $	5,207,195
More than that paid for during the first five months of 1904, and while the new issues for May fell off somewhat, the new business paid for in May of this year exceeded that of last May by.....	497,055
The society's outstanding assurance the first quarter of 1905 was	38,485,925
As compared with	27,350,000
For the first quarter of 1904, a net increase for the first quarter of this year over last of	9,135,925
The policies restored, that is to say, policies which had previously been dropped that were reinstated by the society, have increased during two of the months as follows:
March, 1905, over March, 1904	41.3%
May, 1905, over May, 1904	19.6%
The new business of the Pittsburgh agency so far this year is	5,351,712

Already a larger business by far than the total business of any agency of any other company in this district for the entire year.

Mr. Frick, who has made a thorough and drastic investigation of the society, has over his own signature stated that there were no charges made which, if true, would diminish the society's assets. Whatever in the past management of the Equitable has deserved criticism is being and will be remedied, and an institution which can stand a strain and come out of it not only with undiminished resources and assurance in force but make such extraordinary increases, is certain now to enter upon a prosperous era such as it has never before experienced.

The matter of settlement of estates is one that each of us is called upon at some time to meet. Whether it be one of administration or guardianship, or other form of trust, this company is fully prepared to render efficient service in such matters. Our large capital and long years of experience are assurances of security and satisfaction. We invite correspondence. the Safe Deposit & Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Fourth avenue and Wood street.

PITTSBURGHER SPEAKS IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Exercises at State College—Local Boy Wins Medal at Kiskiminetas Springs.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

STATE COLLEGE, June 13.—Fully 2,000 people attended the exercises incident to commencement here today. At 10:30 a. m. a general meeting of the alumni and old students was held in the auditorium. At 4:30 p. m. there was an exhibition drill by the cadet battalion, which was reviewed by Maj. Gen. Charles Miller, in the absence of Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, who was detained by business. This evening the junior oratorical contest was held in the new auditorium. President George W. Atherton presided, and the contestants and their subjects were: "Ironmaste and Philanthropist," Ray Philip Farrington, Pittsburgh; "Occident versus Orient," Oscar Clinton Mays, Oil City; "Some Types of College Men," Lloyd Beecher Smith, Laceyville; "Will Our Nation Die?" Wellington Garfield Heckathorne, Slippery Rock; "The American Navy," Charles David Flickinger, Newport; "The Peril of National Aggrandizement," Arthur Lee Ferver, New Wilmington; "A Square Deal," Charles Franklin Knoll, Green Park. Up to a late hour the judges had not announced their decision. Following the junior contest a general reception was held in the armory, the day closing with a smoker for the alumni and old students.

SALTSBURG, June 13.—The annual commencement exercises of the Kiskiminetas Springs school began Sunday evening when the Rev. Dr. Wallace of Greensburg preached the baccalaureate sermon. Monday evening the annual declamation contest was held in the chapel. There were eight participants, and Richard B. Scandrett, Jr., of Pittsburgh, son of R. B. Scandrett, won the gold medal. A. Floyd Dickie of Pittsburgh and Franklin S. Gray of Oil City tied for second honors. This morning at 10 o'clock the graduating exercises were held. R. Willis Fair, principal, presented diplomas to 12 graduates. There were five participants in the oratorical contest, and the medal was awarded to Newton C. Fetter of Doylestown. In the afternoon the school track meet was held. In the evening was held the principals' reception, followed by a dance.

LANCASTER, June 13.—The annual session of the board of trustees of Franklin and Marshall college was held here today. President of the Board George F. Baer of Reading presided. The Rev. Dr. J. S. Stahr, president of the college, reported a prosperous year, with an increased enrollment. Upon his recommendation Dr. Frank Clifton Smith, a Yale graduate, was elected professor of modern languages. President Stahr also favored the acceptance of a gift of $37,500 from Andrew Carnegie for a new academy building. Treasurer J. W. B. Bausman reported an endowment fund of $242,877,36. The income of the college from all funds was $37,089.83, and the deficit for the year $2,992.72, which is less than for many years.

DODGING SERVICE ON THE WAITE CASE JURY

Lawrence County People Evade the Sheriff, Who Is Having Trouble Supplying Panel.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, June 13.—Judge Porter this afternoon continued the murder trial of Rosewell Waite, accused of murdering Policeman Frank Skidmore, until tomorrow morning, because of the difficulty of obtaining talesmen to supply the jury panel.

The panel was exhausted this morning, after only two more jurymen had been secured, making seven in all. Today Henry Blews of this city, and John M. Houston, a New Wilmington merchant, were accepted. The jurors chosen yesterday are: Wilson Biard of Mahoning; John T. Brown of Ferry; James M. Glasser of Wayne; Casper Hornickle of Little Beaver, and Oscar T. Adams of Ellwood City. Judge Porter today directed Sheriff Ayers to secure 60 talesmen, but that official is having great difficulty as people are averse to sitting in the case, and evade him.

Judge J. Norman Martin, who with Attorney B. A. Winternitz, was conducting the defense, left this morning for Baltimore, where he was called with his wife to the bedside of the latter's brother, John Andrews, who is near death. Attorney Winternitz is now conducting the defense alone.

TO TEACH INDUSTRY.

Teachers Elected to Educate Youngsters in Cooking and Other Useful Arts.

The Industrial school committee of the Central board of education met last night. Mrs. M. E. Van Wagonen was re-elected supervisor of drawing and her salary fixed at $1,500. The school kitchen teachers were elected as follows: Phipps, Miss K. M. Wolfe; Torrence, Miss C. S. Schaffner; McKelvey, Miss L. M. Koch; Birmingham, Miss Bertha Krugh; Franklin, Miss Sadie Lilley; Humboldt, Miss Harriett Eck; Minersville, Miss Florence Stahl. The only change in this list is in the Franklin school, where Miss Mabel E. Hillis resigned and Miss Lilley was elected in her place. For the Birmingham Lloyd school Miss Emma J. Clause, and for the Forbes Lloyd school, Miss Sue G. Case were elected.

H. R. Phillips was elected for the Franklin manual training school; A. D. Alexander for the Humboldt and J. G. Meixner for the Liberty.

The committee on allotment of teachers also held a meeting. Under a strict construction the average attendance of pupils for last year would require a reduction in the number of teachers allowed several of the districts. As the usual increase in attendance is expected next fall the committee decided that the number of teachers authorized in the present month would be allowed for September and October. After that the allotment will be based on the attendance for those two months.

TRADE BOOMERS WILL MAKE TRIP UP RIVER BY BOAT

A trade excursion up the river is the plan to advance Pittsburgh's commercial interests that will be used on August 10 and 11 by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association. The trip will extend from Pittsburgh to Brownsville and would have reached Morgantown, had not the condition of Lock No. 6, which is undergoing repairs, been such as to fail to insure a through trip. It is announced also by Secretary James W. Wardrop that another in-bound trade excursion will be held from August 21 to September 9.

Contract for New Engine House.

Mayor Hays and Director Moore yesterday let a contract to Joseph Siebert & Sons Company to build the new First ward engine house at Water and Short streets and First avenue. FUSION IS PROBABLE IN BEAVER COUNTY

Republican Supporters of Holt Likely to Name Ticket in Conjunction With Democrats.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, June 13.—From Beaver county politicians who have been resting here it is learned there is a fusion movement which will probably assume definite shape within a few days. The plan is to unite the disgruntled Republicans with the Democrats, who will nominate R. S. Holt for president judge in opposition to J. Rankin Martin, the Republican nominee. Martin was nominated over Holt at the Republican primaries by 900 votes. Several meetings have been held in Beaver county looking to the chances of Holt running as an independent candidate, and towards fusion with the Democrats.

At one of the recent meetings presided over by W. C. Townsend, who had been Holt's campaign manager, Democratic Chairman Henry Wilson and other Democrats were present. Owing to the dissatisfaction over the Republican nominations indications point to an open and formal protest against the dominance of certain influences at the primaries. The protest will probably take the shape of a published request, signed by a committee of the independent Republicans, asking that the Democratic party join them in the formation of a fusion ticket. Although the Democrats in Beaver county have aspirants for county commissioner and other minor offices, no member of the party has voiced his aspirations for the judgeship. There has been a tacit understanding all along that Holt would probably receive the Democratic indorsement.

Beaver county's Democratic chairman, Mr. Wilson, is reputed to have admitted hearing of the fusion movement, but declared that the question would lie with the party. He is said to have told a Holt adherent that in case a request for fusion is made and shows itself to be strong enough to command respect he will allow it to be brought before the convention.

POLICE CAPTAIN WILSON CONVICTED AND ALLEGED JURY-FIXER HELD FOR COURT

WILSON RESIGNS ON CONVICTION

Allegheny Police Captain Is Found Guilty of Extorting $50 from Daisy Hess.

GRAND JURY IGNORES BILLS

Capt. James Wilson of the Allegheny police force has been convicted of extortion in aiding and abetting one Daisy Hess to open a disorderly house in Allegheny. With the verdict was a recommendation of the defendant to the extreme mercy of the court. No person was more surprised at the verdict than the prosecuting lawyers, Messrs. Marron and Haymaker, who, though they claimed to have the evidence and had worked hard, expected a verdict of acquittal or a disagreement under the circumstances which have attended the trial of the Allegheny graft cases thus far.

It has been decided to place Capt. Wilson on trial today on a charge of accepting $50 from Frances Foley and giving her permission to open a disorderly house. This case is the exact counterpart of the Hess case, and the money was said to have been paid by Mrs. Freshman. The case would have been tried yesterday, but Attorney Ferguson was engaged on another case, and insisted that the agreement of the district attorney not to try a case yesterday be carried out.

Wilson arrived in the court room yesterday morning in time to hear the verdict read by Clerk Fagan, and was almost stunned by the words. Since the disagreement of the first jury that tried him, and the verdict of not guilty by the second, he has been carrying a confident air, and it is said has been claiming that the "people are tired of these graft cases," and that no more convictions would be obtained. His face blanched when he found he was mistaken, although he regained his composure and laughed and talked with friends about the corridors of the court house all morning.

Case Is to Be Appealed.

Attorney Ferguson was as much astonished as anybody at the verdict and was unable to hide his feelings. He said that a case had been manufactured against his client; that the evidence did not warrant a conviction, and that if there was not a new trial granted the case would be appealed.

The verdict is known to be a compromise, because loud and angry discussion was heard in the jury room. This began almost as soon as the jurymen retired late Monday afternoon, and was kept up all through the four-hour session. The jurymen finally proposed a compromise verdict, understanding that no recommendation is binding on the court.

Hardly had the developments of yesterday reached a climax in the release of two jurors from service, until it was discovered the grand jury was taking an interest in the graft cases, and had decided that a number of Allegheny officials should not be placed on trial. That body returned ignored bills in the cases of Capt. Wilson, Lieut. Robert Dickson and Policemen Thomas Carroll and Michael Redman of the Allegheny police force, charged with extortion. An indictment charging Charles Draher, formerly a driver for Fred Tschume, the Allegheny bottler, with a misdemeanor in opening a disorderly house, was also ignored. The informations charged each of the defendants with opening and maintaining disorderly houses in Allegheny. In each case the costs were placed on the county. Attorney John Marron announced last night that he would send these cases back to the grand jury.

Wilson Resigns Police Captaincy.

When the news of Wilson's conviction reached Allegheny city hall it caused considerable surprise, as the general opinion was that he would be acquitted. Shortly after Capt. Wilson had a conference with Thomas B. Scandrett, director of the department of public safety, in the office of the superintendent of police.

Director Scandrett was acting as superintendent in the absence of Acting Superintendent John Glenn, who is confined to his home by illness. After the talk with Scandrett the captain tendered his resignation and it was accepted. The letter which Wilson wrote to Scandrett reads as follows:

Thomas B. Scandrett, Director of Public Safety:

Dear Sir: Please accept this, my resignation, as captain of police to take effect at once. Having been tried and convicted of a charge, I deem this my duty to both Mayor Wyman and yourself. Although I assure you I am innocent of all charges preferred against me. Thanking you and Mayor Wyman for courtesies shown me, I am, very respectfully yours,

JAMES WILSON.

Director Scandrett during the afternoon announced that as a result of Wilson's resignation he had appointed Adam Neumar, first lieutenant of the second district, as acting captain. Thomas Hardy, a policeman was appointed to act as lieutenant of the Second district. Director Scandrett stated that the appointments of Neumar and Hardy were made only for the right, and that he had not yet decided whom he would appoint to succeed Wilson. The general impression about the city hall is that Wilson's absence from the police bureau is only temporary.

Scandrett Is Sorrowful.

Director Scandrett yesterday afternoon stated that he was very sorry to hear of Wilson's conviction and to receive his resignation. "Wilson was a good officer and he was square," said Scandrett. When Wilson was seen at city hall he declined to talk to any extent, saying "I simply followed the others and resigned when the jury returned a verdict of guilty." By the others, Wilson meant Charles Striepeke, who resigned as one of the assistant superintendents in the bureau of highways and sewers, when he was convicted several weeks ago. Melvin H. Campbell, who was superintendent of the Allegheny bureau of police when he was convicted, refused to resign and was suspended indefinitely by Director Scandrett.

WILKINSON IS HELD FOR COURT

Charges Against Alleged Jury-Fixer May Go to the Grand Jury Today.

JURORS ADMIT BEING HELD UP

Samuel C. Wilkinson held for court on a charge of embracery, two jurors, John Judge and John Kelly, dismissed from further service on the jury, and the conviction of Police Captain James Wilson of a charge of extortion, were some of the startling developments in connection with the Allegheny graft investigation yesterday that adds additional interest to the effort of the district attorney to give Allegheny city a clean administration.

One sensation followed another during the day from the time the jury reported until late last night, when it was decided to go after a number of other well-known jury fixers who habitually make the court house corridors a loafing place, if they are found talking to any member of the present jury panel. The house of each juryman will be watched, and if any of the well-known faces about the court house appear in the vicinity, they will be arrested on sight. These are the instructions given by the district attorney to the county detectives and others employed specially to look after the panel in these cases, owing to the recent developments.

Samuel C. Wilkinson was given a hearing before Alderman Toole shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday. He was represented by Attorney Rody P. Marshall, while Attorneys Haymaker and Marron looked after the commonwealth's interests.

Kalbfell Tells His Story.

Only one witness was called. He was Walter Kalbfell, who is responsible for securing the evidence upon which the commonwealth based its case before the admissions of James Haywood and others that Wilkinson had approached them, and which corroborated Kalbfell's testimony. The detective, who is very boyish looking, testified that during the noon hour Wilkinson approached Haywood and had a talk with him in front of the court house, near the corner of Fifth avenue. He walked past them and got close enough to hear what was being said. He heard Wilkinson say to Haywood:

"Wilson is a friend of mine and I'm a friend of yours. If you can possibly do it, make it not guilty and put the costs on the defendant, like they did in the other case. It will look better if he has to pay the costs. If you can't do that, hold out to the last."

Kalbfell then said that Wilkinson saw him and whispered something in Haywood's ear. The latter turned around and looked at him sharply, and both men walked away.

Attorney Marshall failed to shake Kalbfell's testimony on cross-examination. He made an effort to find out what Kalbfell did for a living, but an objection was sustained and Kalbfell refused to answer.

'Twas Different in Butler.

"We have a right to know that," said Mr. Marshall. "You people wanted to know who the prosecutor was in Butler county."

"Oh," said Mr. Haymaker, "Hay Philip?"

"The defendants in Butler county," said Mr. Marron, "did not want to know who Hay Philip was; they merely wanted to know that he had a physical existence. We have produced our witness and the commonwealth is the prosecutor."

On further cross-examination it was brought out that Wilkinson said to Haywood: "Then we'll go to see this party and we'll get it fixed up. I'll take you over and introduce you to these men."

This is where Kelly and Judge came upon the scene, as shown later before Judge McClung. Wilkinson was held in $1,000 bail for court. Daniel Carey of Turtle Creek, a neighbor of Wilkinson's, furnished the bond just before the defendant was called before Judge McClung in the afternoon, and he was released from jail.

While the Wilkinson hearing was going on, District Attorney Stewart, his assistant, John S. Robb, and County Detective Robinson were catechising Juror Haywood in the district attorney's office. Haywood stated that it was true he had been approached by Wilkinson, and that Wilkinson had attempted to influence him in behalf of Captain Wilson.

Haywood for Conviction.

He declared, however, that he had not only resisted the blandishments of the defendant, but went into the jury room and voted from the first to the last for conviction, so thoroughly was he convinced of Captain Wilson's guilt. He promised to make atonement for failing to report the matter to the court by appearing before the grand jury against Wilkinson and testifying against him in court. For this reason and the fact that he paid no attention to Wilkinson, Haywood was not removed from the jury by the court.

Judge McClung, to whom the matters connected with jury fixing had been reported, told the district attorney to summon all those believed to have been approached during this trial. James Haywood, John Kelly, John Judge, S. C. Wilkinson and A. H. White were brought into the court room. All the attorneys interested in the graft cases were present. Mr. Robb asked Kelly to explain his conduct during the noon hour yesterday.

Walter Kalbfell.

Kelly said he went to Russell's saloon, Fifth avenue and Ross street, and had a glass of beer and a sandwich for lunch. Patrick Harmer, manager for Russell, asked if he was on the jury. Kelly replied that he was on the graft case and was asked how it looked. He replied that "as far as the evidence went Wilson was not guilty."

Juror Meets Wilkinson.

After leaving the saloon he walked to Fifth avenue and Grant street, where he met Judge, a member of the panel, but not on the Wilson jury. He said he also told Judge that he was on the graft jury. Kelly said he did not know how long the jury was going to be on the case, and if it was out after 6 o'clock he wanted Judge to send him his supper, as he did not have a cent.

Judge was then examined and stated that he and A. H. White met Kelly. They talked about the supper, but he did not talk to Kelly about the graft case. He said Wilkinson and Haywood then came up and Wilkinson remarked that he would like to see Wilson acquitted. Judge said he was not on the jury and claimed he warned Wilkinson that he ought not to talk that way, as he might get himself into trouble. Judge says he could not give Kelly the supper money, and went home at 5 o'clock.

White then told his story. He said he was in the crowd. Wilkinson asked him if he was on the jury, and when he replied that he was not, Wilkinson remarked that Wilson ought to be acquitted.

Haywood told the court substantially the same story he told to the district attorney, corroborating the testimony of Kalbfell in many respects. He testified Wilkinson said:

"Capt. Wilson was a man of good reputation, while the people testifying against him came from the dives and if he was on the jury he would stick."

Court Cautioned Defendent.

Judge McClung then called Wilkinson, and after cautioning him that any statement he might make would be used against him, asked him if he cared to say anything. Wilkinson shook his head and took his seat.

The court then remarked as this was a hearing to determine whether or not the men were fit to remain on jury service, he would dismiss Judge and Kelly. He stated that any man who did not report to the court when approached was not fit to serve on the jury.

"We must have this thing stopped," said the court, "and any juror who is approached hereafter in any manner at all about any case, must report the matter to the court immediately. Jurors are not to listen to any discussion of a case in which they are sitting nor read the newspaper accounts of the trial."

The court then said he would not dispose of Wilkinson at present. Haywood was not disturbed, owing to the fact that he proved ironclad to influence and was perfectly willing to testify against Wilkinson.

The case against Wilkinson will be hurried to trial with all possible speed as a warning to others. The district attorney will present the case to the grand jury today, and may possibly bring Wilkinson to trial tomorrow, if the graft cases do not interfere. Otherwise Wilkinson will be arraigned Monday. The law provides a fine of $500 and a year's imprisonment, either or both at the discretion of the court, in case of conviction.

Two Other Cases Ready.

Thirty names of persons alleged to be known jury fixers have been obtained by the district attorney and his assistants, and these men will be summoned before the court for an examination in the near future. Considerable evidence has been gathered against some of them, and a number of jurors on old panels will be called in to tell the court in what cases they were approached. A close watch is being kept on certain men at present, and they will be arrested on informations as soon as a perfect case is secured. The attorneys for the graft investigation claim to have at least two cases in such shape that they will be able to make informations as soon as the Wilkinson case is disposed of, and thus keep up the work of purging the court house corridors.

JURY-FIXING AS A PROFESSION

The Court House "Loafers" and Their Systems Are Well Known to Many Lawyers.

RANKS ARE SWELLING DAILY

Many lawyers who have been "wise" to the system of jury fixing as employed by certain corporations and well known attorneys, expressed little surprise at the developments attending the Wilson case. They have known that this kind of business was the regular employment of a number of court house lotterers for years. So bold have the "regulars" become and so easy appeared their "graft," that their ranks have had numerous acquisitions of late and they are pointed out in derision by almost every lawyer frequenting the court house and are well known to nearly every employe in the county building.

One notorious crowd is called "——'s gang of jury fixers," the first appellation being the name of a prominent attorney, while another crowd is said to be employed to offset that gang's work, and is kept busy watching their rivals. Each in turn takes a whack at the jury and the best man wins. Evidence has little to do with many of the decisions, and frequently attorneys who have felt the sting of defeat in a particularly good case, walk out of the court house threatening to spend everything he has in the world to produce evidence that will land the jury fixers in the penitentiary. But they take it all out in fussing and fuming, and fail to spend the money; so the jury fixer gets off without a scratch and watches for his next victim.

Openly Solicited Business.

A certain jury fixer, so-called, became so bold a few months ago that he approached a number of lawyers and quietly told them he could fix any jury in the court house. Openly, and without the least fear, he solicited business and it came his way in many cases. He was regarded largely as a bluff by some of the attorneys most interested in seeing that the jury "was right," and soon lost caste. He is now employed by a certain corporation and is said to be keeping away from the court house of late. Everybody knows him and many think they know his business.

Among those who can be seen any day circulating among jurymen and watching for a chance to say a good word and slip a sum of money to some particular person is an ex-convict. He is not regarded as specially brilliant in his line, but seems to live well without doing any legitimate work. He has several partners, and they can be seen comparing notes when any cause in which they are interested is on trial. Others were formerly employed in the court house and have no trouble living about the building without doing any work.

These men have succeeded in fixing this jury and that, because no person has the same interest or the same opportunity of catching them at the work as the commonwealth had in the graft cases. It was not believed at first that the "regulars" would undertake the hazardous task of trying to "regulate" public sentiment in the cases against the Allegheny officials, and so they were the least watched of all those the sleuths employed by the district attorney and his assistants were charged with watching.

Warning Was Recently Given.

The county detectives believed they would keep their hands off and permit honest verdicts in accordance with the evidence, especially as certain ones believed to be professionals were warned in advance to keep off. It was only after a verdict of acquittal was given in one of the graft cases that the attention of the commonwealth's attorneys was directed toward this "gang," and it required but a short time to secure enough evidence to hold one man for the grand jury and discover evidence against two others.

While these "loafers" about the court house corridors and saloons near the building have been busy for years, it has only been within the last five years that the ranks have swelled because of the enormous earnings they are said to have received from verdicts that came their way. Several years ago only two or three men were bold enough to adopt "jury-fixing" as a profession, and they made money. Of late, however, so many have joined the ranks that the "fixers" have to take more desperate chances than formerly to show they have earned their wages.

Systems differ among these "jury-fixers." Some approach the man on the particular jury to be fixed. They see his brother, his sister or his near relative. Oftentimes a wife is approached and told if her husband does certain things she will get her grocery bill paid for a year, or she is slipped a neat sum with promise of having it duplicated if a certain jury does a certain thing, the juror not being mentioned. Sometimes a son or a daughter is fixed in a diplomatic manner, but is given to understand what is required of the father.

How They Dodge the Law.

In this way the "fixers" get around the law of embracery and are prepared to prove an alibi in case the person should "squeal." In most cases two travel together, so that one can support the other's story if they make a mistake and the wrong man is seen.

"Look at that bunch of "jury-fixers" is a remark frequently heard on the second floor of the court house. One of the most prominent and successful embracers nearly always gets a station in the court rooms and picks out his man before he leaves the room. When he knows his "game" he does not hesitate to talk to him right under the nose of the court officers, and is often seen walking out of the court room at recess with his "friend" on his arm. But of late that particular "fixer" has found it the part of good judgment not to be seen about the court house very often.

Will Give $1,000.00 JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER

We will Forfeit $1,000.00 to any Charitable Institution in America if in Six Months Wyeth's Cream of Sage and Sulphur will not grow a full Head of Hair on John D. Rockefeller.

In scores of cases Sage and Sulphur has grown hair on heads as bald as John D. Rockefeller's—we firmly believe it will do the same for the multi-millionaire.

If Mr. Rockefeller will accept our offer—and we sincerely trust he will—we are positive that within six months he will enjoy the luxury of a head of healthy hair.—If we fail—we will gladly forfeit $1,000.00 to any Charitable Institution Mr. Rockefeller may designate.

What is Wyeth's Cream of Sage and Sulphur

It is the discovery of Prof. Wyeth, whose fame as a Medical Scientist is known all over the civilized world.

In his experiments Prof. Wyeth discovered that Sulphur is a natural constituent of healthy hair—that when he analyzed healthy hair sulphur was found in plenty, but when he examined hair from a man who was losing his hair and was rapidly growing bald he found but slight traces of sulphur.

Years of Experiments to make it Perfect

Further experiments proved beyond a doubt that hair fell out, turned gray, or grew harsh or thin, because of lack of sulphur.

Now came the great problem—How to prepare a combination of Sulphur that the roots of the hair would absorb—the ordinary combinations were useless—the roots of the hair would not absorb any of them.

Success Crowned His Efforts

After years of labor Prof. Wyeth compounded a formula containing a combination of sulphur that was readily absorbed by the hair roots and thence into the hair. This formula was named Wyeth's Cream of Sage and Sulphur and placed upon the market. So rapid is its action—so readily do the hair roots absorb it that wonderful results are often achieved in a few days.

What Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is Guaranteed to do—or Money Back

Restore Gray Hair.
Stop Falling Hair.
Grow Hair on Bald Heads.
Restore Streaked or Faded Hair.
Make Harsh Hair Soft and Glossy.
Give Life and Beauty to the Hair.
Stop Dandruff in three days.

As a Hair dressing it is without a peer—it is Harmless, it is not sticky, oily or greasy—it is used by thousands to keep the hair healthy—it prevents as well as cures disease, and should be used as a hair dressing by every family.

What Wyeth's Cream of Sage and Sulphur did for Stephen Bacon it will do for John D. Rockefeller:

"For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About a year ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer as I notice a constant improvement."

MATHEWSON SHUTS CHICAGO TEAM OUT WITHOUT A HIT

PHILLIPPE IS IN GRAND FORM

The Deacon Allows Boston But Three Hits and a Shutout Is the Result.

LOOSE PLAY BY THE VISITORS

The Pirates took the second game of the series from Boston 6 to 0 before 2,510 spectators. It wasn't much of a trick for the locals to win the game, as the visitors put up an exhibition that would shame a schoolboy. The contest was lacking in excitement, and there were times when the managers had to keep shouting in order to keep the players awake.

The game had but one real feature, and that was the pitching of Phillippe, who held the visitors to three scattered hits, and one of these was a gift on the part of the umpire when he called Tenney safe in the fourth inning when the ball had reached the base ahead of the runner. The other two hits were made in the closing innings, one by Wilhelm in the eighth and one by Delhanty in the ninth. The work of the Deacon was so clever that not a Boston player reached third base. Not only did Phillippe pitch well, but he was given grand support.

Victor Willis, the tall twirler, started in for the visitors, but he lasted only four innings, and in that time the Pirates had piled up all of their runs as a result of seven hits, two bases on balls and three errors. The playing of the Boston team in the fourth inning was something of a nightmare, as the locals were allowed to score four runs on two hits, one base on balls and three errors. The offenders were Raymer and Willis. Raymer contributed a pair of errors on chances that an amateur player would consider easy.

Irvin Wilhelm, the ex-Pirate, relieved Willis after the fourth inning. Had he been the choice at the start there would have been a battle of pitchers worth seeing. In the four innings that Wilhelm worked not a hit nor the semblance of one was made off his delivery. Outside of giving one base on balls the ex-Pirate was as steady as a clock, and the Pirates went out in one-two-three order. The only local player to get past first in the four innings was Clymer, who drew a base on balls in the eighth and stole second, where he remained.

The Pirates started to get scores in the second inning, when Wagner, the first batter up, was given a base on balls. Howard was out on a fly, but Clymer drove a stinging single to right, on which Wagner reached third. He scored on a single by Ritchey. Clymer went to second on a fast steal and scored on a hit by Peitz. In the third Beaumont singled, but was out trying to steal second, and Wagner followed with a terrific drive against the left field bleachers for three bases, but he was left on third.

Clymer opened the fourth by reaching first on an error by Raymer. Ritchey tried for a sacrifice and Willis got the ball and shot it to second, but his throw was wild and both runners were safe. On Peitz' grounder Raymer made another misplay, which allowed Clymer to score and Ritchey to reach third, Peitz going to second. Phillippe contributed a single to right, which scored Ritchey. Leach drew a base on balls, but was forced at second by Beaumont. Phillippe was out at the plate on Clarke's drive, Beaumont reaching second on the play, and he scored the last run of the inning on a single to left by Wagner.

The Pirates tried hard to get at their old comrade in the following innings, but his delivery was more than they could solve. The visitors also made strenuous efforts to avoid a shutout, but Phillippe was in too good form for them. The score:

LIVELY GAME IN ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, June 13.—In a game liberally punctuated with long-drawn-out disputes over Umpire Klem's decisions, Brooklyn defeated St. Louis 6 to 1. Shortstop Shay was put out of the game for disputing a decision and in the eighth Manager-Captain Burke became involved in a wrangle with Klem that resulted in Burke and Catcher Grady being sent out of the grounds. The spectators then took a hand and police intervention was necessary before the game could continue. Police protection for Umpire Klem when he left the grounds at the end of the game was also necessary. Attendance 1,800. The score:

CHICAGO, June 13.—Mathewson was in rare form today and shut out the locals without a hit nor a base on balls. Browns pitching was also gilt-edged until the ninth, when he was hit for four consecutive singles. Both teams were a little off in fielding, but the errors cost nothing. Attendance 9,000. Score:

Two-base hit—Sparks. Stolen bases—Schlei, Huggins 2. Double play—Schlei and Bridwell. Corcoran hit and scored on a hit by Peitz. In the third Beaumont singled, but was out trying to steal second, and Wagner followed with a terrific drive against the left field bleachers for three bases, but he was left on third.

Clymer opened the fourth by reaching first on an error by Raymer. Ritchey tried for a sacrifice and Willis got the ball and shot it to second, but his throw was wild and both runners were safe. On Peitz' grounder Raymer made another misplay, which allowed Clymer to score and Ritchey to reach third, Peitz going to second. Phillippe contributed a single to right, which scored Ritchey. Leach drew a base on balls, but was forced at second by Beaumont. Phillippe was out at the plate on Clarke's drive, Beaumont reaching second on the play, and he scored the last run of the inning on a single to left by Wagner.

The Pirates tried hard to get at their old comrade in the following innings, but his delivery was more than they could solve. The visitors also made strenuous efforts to avoid a shutout, but Phillippe was in too good form for them. The score:

MORE SALES IN DOWNTOWN WARDS

Nos. 230-232 Second Avenue Bring $100,000; 408 Grant Street Is Sold.

LARGE RENTING CONTRACT

The Real Estate Trust Company has sold for Weaver, Costello & Co., incorporated, to a prominent buyer of downtown properties, 230-232 Second avenue, for $100,000. The property is only a short distance below Wood street, and consists of a six-story stone front building of slow burning construction, on 30x80 feet. The building is under lease to the Thomas Wightman Glass Company for five years. This sale, which is the largest deal for Second avenue property made for several months, is at the rate of $3,333 a front foot, or $41 66 a square foot.

The deal is significant as showing the tendency of shrewd buyers to purchase modern warehouse properties which are well rented. In the last four years the fact has been demonstrated time and again that there is no class of buildings downtown that pay as good a revenue or can be more easily disposed of than warehouse structures, and property owners who have improved their holdings with such buildings are extremely well satisfied with their investments.

Pay $80,000 for Hampton Law Building.

Three investors, two of them Pittsburghers and the third a New Yorker, yesterday bought the Hampton law building at 408 Grant street for $80,000. The deal was handled by the new real estate firm of Hay & Brown and M. J. Ehrenfeld, and following closely upon the sale of the Aronson-Friedman lot to M. F. Maloney for $40,000, shows there is plenty "doing" on the hump. The property just sold belonged to James H. Park, who bought it in 1902 for $50,000, so this deal nets him $30,000. The lot is on the east side of the street, between Fourth avenue and Diamond street, and measures 23x122.5 feet, extending back to a 10-foot alley. This makes the purchase at the rate of $3,477 a front foot, or $25 40 a square foot, compared with $2,480 a front foot or $23 63 a square foot paid for the Aronson-Friedman lot. The Hampton law property is a better investment at the price as far as revenue goes, for it was leased a few months ago to the Young Men's Republican Tariff club for five years at an annual rental of $4,000. The club has spent over $20,000 in putting the three-story building in good shape, and now occupies all the floors and the basement. Another property in the vicinity is reported to be optioned, and the sale may be announced this week. Evidently the prospect of strong financial interests coming to the aid of the hump removal project is having a stimulating effect upon buyers for properties that are in the direct line of enhancement.

Sale of Squirrel Hill Frontage.

Another portion of the Elizabeth F. McCombs property on Squirrel Hill has been sold through the office of George Brothers for $31,000, the buyer being Joseph A. Kelly of the Reliance Tube Company. The property is part of the Ferree place plan of lots, and has a frontage of 440 feet on the south side of Wilkins avenue, between Murray and Shady avenues, with a depth of 260 feet. It adjoins the frontage at Shady and Wilkins avenues, which the same brokers recently sold to J. W. Friend for $70,000. It is also directly opposite Woodland road and is near the frontage lately bought by Charles Dickson and George L. Hailman for sites for fine homes. Murray avenue is to be opened this summer near this property, which will make it much more valuable for residence purposes. The buyer intends to hold it for an investment, and no improvements are contemplated at present.

Harry Davis is the buyer of the old site of the Working Girls' Home in Eighth street, which was sold for D. H. Wallace a few days ago for $50,000 through George Brothers and the Home Trust Company. The site is 74x100 feet and is vacant.

A. L. Curry is reported to be the purchaser of the property of the Jewish congregation Tree of Life at Fourth avenue and Ross street, which was sold a short time ago through Avey & Irish for $87,000.

Aaron Cohen is the purchaser of the George A. McLean frontage, 100x300 feet, on the west side of Winebiddle avenue, near Friendship avenue, which was sold last week for $30,000.

Record Breaker in Renting.

The Samuel W. Black Company has been appointed exclusive renting agent for the 40 warehouses and office building of the Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse and Transfer Company, between Third and Fourth streets, South Side, thus securing the largest renting contract ever made in the city. The 40 warehouses are each six stories high and are arranged in two parallel buildings, separated by a street and all under one roof. The four-story office building will be in Carson street, and will afford an approach to the warehouses. The first floor of the office building will be used by a local bank and stores, while the upper floors will contain the offices of the company. There are over five acres of ground included in the site, and the buildings have a total area of over 1,000,000 feet of floor space. This will be rented at the rate of 40 and 50 cents a square foot, which will include all elevator and water charges. On the siding within the big group of buildings there will be space for 100 freight cars, and as many more can be accommodated in the yards outside. Tenants can be accommodated with any amount of space they desire, ranging from a half dozen complete warehouses down to one or two floors of a single warehouse. Applications are now on file for over one-half the total number of warehouses, and several long leases have been made. The prominent wholesale firms now located in the downtown district. One of the best equipped cold storage plants in the country will occupy the space of five warehouses, and six elevators will be provided at the river end of the buildings to assist in loading and unloading freight from the boats. Nearly 1,000 men are now working on the immense project, which will be practically completed by October 1.

Jury Verdict a Great Surprise.

In the case of the Blackburn heirs against the West Side Belt Railroad Company for damages to their farm of about 100 acres near Clairton, which was cut by the line of the railroad, the plaintiffs were awarded a verdict by the jury yesterday of $60,300. The case has been on for a week in common pleas court No. 2, and attracted much interest. The West Side condemned the property in October, 1903, and occupied about nine acres of it along one side of the farm with its right-of-way. The board of viewers gave the owners an award of $12,000 last year, from which they appealed. Testimony before the jury for the plaintiffs went to show that the farm was worth at the time the West Side railroad went through it from $5,000 to $6,000 an acre and that the railroad damaged it from $45,000 to $50,000. The defendants' witnesses claimed the property was worth from $1,000 to $1,600 an acre, and the railroad benefited the farm as a whole from $30,000 to $120,000, owing to the better shipping facilities offered for a manufacturing site. A new trial may be asked.

The Wilkinsburg Trust Company, which erected a building at Rebecca street and the Pennsylvania railroad last year, has its real estate department now fully established in the building. The banking department will begin business about July 1.

The Murray avenue plan of lots on Squirrel Hill is proving a genuine winner under the management of D. Behen & Son. Up to yesterday noon 61 lots had been sold out of the total number, 215. Considering the fact that the plan was only opened last Thursday and the weather has been rainy since, this is a remarkably good record.

RETURNS PENSION MONEY.

Commissioner Warner Receives a Contribution of $1,924 to the Conscience Fund of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Commissioner of Pensions Warner today received a contribution of $1,924 to the conscience fund of the treasury. It came from a pensioner and is the sum total of pension money drawn by him since the Civil war, beginning at the rate of $2 and rising to $6 per month. The identity of the pensioner is withheld at the latter's request. The name will be dropped from the roll.

The reason for refunding the money and declining to accept more is that the pensioner has not earned and does not deserve a pension.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Presidents' Day Prettily Celebrated.

Visiting club presidents from Pittsburgh and Allegheny attended the brilliant reception which yesterday marked the Presidents' day of the Woman's club of Wilkinsburg. Over 150 women were in attendance. All the pretty accessories of a smart social entertainment marked the affair. A short formal program was presented, preceding the general reception. An address of welcome was given by Mrs. T. H. Buchbinder, chairman of the social committee, who was followed by the retiring president, Mrs. William C. Anderson, and the incoming president, Mrs. Charles W. Smith, both of whom gave short, bright and interesting addresses. The music was delightfully rendered by Miss Harriet B. Duncan, vocalist, and Alberto Reardon, violinist.

Following the program the officers received informally, the receiving party separating into three groups, one being composed of Mrs. W. C. Anderson and the officers of the past year, with whom also stood several of the visiting presidents, among them Mrs. John H. Armstrong, of the Wimodausis club; Miss Jean Hunter, representing the Thursday Afternoon club of Wilkinsburg, and Mrs. George Schmidt of the Edgewood Woman's club; the second group included the newly-elected officers: Mrs. Charles W. Smith, Mrs. D. P. Thomas, Mrs. S. H. McKee, Mrs. W. E. Evans, Mrs. Linneas Roberts and Mrs. J. A. Wilson, while in the third group were the ex-presidents of the club. Refreshments were served from a tea table exquisitely appointed, its decorations consisting wholly of white and purple flowers, while dainty violet shades covered the globes on the electroliers.

The club has decided to make the committee on philanthropy, which has been a sub-committee of the department of civics, a separate department, increasing the number of its members from five to eight. This action was the result of the success of the movement inaugurated by the Woman's club of Wilkinsburg to organize a joint committee of women's clubs and philanthropic organizations in Wilkinsburg, in which the club has been aided by the missionary societies of the various churches and the charitable bodies of the borough. During the past year a series of readings given by George Kiernan netted the club $200, which will be at the disposal of the department of philanthropy.

At the business session yesterday Mrs. Charles D. Armstrong was elected the third delegate from the club to the meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women in Cambridge Springs next October. The other delegates are Mrs. William C. Anderson and Mrs. Charles W. Smith.

Planning Settlement Housewarming.

Arrangements are almost completed for the housewarming of the new Soho Settlement house, 2408 Fifth avenue, on Friday evening. There will be a general reception, for which several hundred invitations have been issued, and the guests will include the presidents of the various women's clubs, members of the Civic club and the Permanent Civic committee, with others who are interested in social settlement work. The officers of the Soho settlement committee, Mrs. George Porter, chairman; Mrs. Rufus Martin, vice chairman; Mrs. Lucian Livingston, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph D. Arnold, with Mrs. Alfred Longmore, chairman of the public baths department of the permanent civic committee, of which the settlement committee is a sub-committee, will form the receiving party.

The program for the evening will include addresses by Dr. J. Leonard Levy, Judge Joseph Buffington, E. Z. Smith and the Rev. Dr. Gaston. There will also be music by Miss Garnett Anderson, Mrs. C. P. Nachod and Stanley Harris, vocalists, with Mrs. Carrie A. White as pianist and accompanist. After the program refreshments will be served, the aids including Mrs. George H. Shotwell, Miss Bessie Parker, Miss Jessie Kelly, Miss Chalfant and others.

Only the first floor of the settlement house will be opened on Friday evening, the two upper floors being rented at present. The first floor has just undergone a renovation. In the largest room, extending the full depth of the house, book cases have been erected to house the sub-station of the Carnegie library, consisting of over 2,000 books. The other two rooms are to be used as a reading room and for the kitchengarden class on Saturday afternoons. The committees for the settlement house include the following: Music, Mrs. J. D. Arnold and Mrs. C. P. Nachod; library, Mrs. Lucian Livingston; invitation, Mrs. Dallas Albert and Mrs. James C. Dick; flowers, Mrs. Jane A. Hall; refreshments, Mrs. Livingston and Mrs. Stonerod; house, Mrs. Rufus Martin.

Propoganda Committee Is Active.

Much interest is being taken in the mass meeting to be held in Wilkinsburg tomorrow evening in the interest of the juvenile court work. The meeting which has enlisted the support of the church people of the borough, and in indorsement of the Woman's club, will be held in the First Presbyterian church, the Rev. Dr. Thomas Parry, pastor. Mrs. Joseph D. Arnold, a member of the propaganda committee of the Juvenile Court association, will preside and the speakers will include Miss Kate C. MacKnight, president of the association; T. D. Senson, chairman of the propaganda committee, and Mrs. Alice B. Montgomery, head probation officer. There will be music by the Madrigal quartet, composed of Miss Ruth Hay and Miss Helen Keil, sopranos; Miss Abbie Carson and Miss Elizabeth Dorchester, contraltos. Miss MacKnight who has been east for two weeks, is expected to return in time to speak tomorrow night, and Mrs. Montgomery, who is to make an address in Boston the last of the week, will not start for New England until Friday in order to be at this first meeting conducted under the auspices of the propaganda committee.

Woman's Club Picnic in the Country.

A novel sight yesterday morning was the group of club women waiting at Penn avenue and Fifth street for cars to take them to Carnegie to the woman's club picnic at the home of Mrs. Minnie Ouray Roberts. They filled several cars, each woman carrying a basket filled with goodies for the luncheon which was served under the trees in one of the most picturesque and old-fashioned gardens in Western Pennsylvania. There were nearly 75 women at the picnic, an unusually good turnout for the woman's clubs which is one of the smaller clubs. So infatuated with the country were many of the club women that they stayed all day long and until the stars came out, though the majority hurried home late in the afternoon to look after the home dinner in the evening.

Among the surprises of the day was the announcement by Mrs. Charles R. Wray, a former president of the club, of the engagement of Miss Caroline Blumberg and Charles Friend of Milwaukee. Miss Blumberg and her mother, Mrs. Albert Blumberg, have been traveling in the west since last fall, and stopped in Milwaukee on their way home a couple of months ago. Both Miss Blumberg and her mother have been among the most active members of the club for several years. The wedding will take place in the fall.

A short business meeting was held. Mrs. Anna Smith who was appointed chairman of the summer playgrounds and vacation school this season in the South school, which will be under the care of the Woman's club, resigned, and Miss Eva May Gamble was appointed chairman in her place, with Miss Hoyer as sub-chairman.

Presentation to the President.

Mrs. William Macrum was the most surprised woman in the Travelers' club yesterday afternoon when the club members presented her with a beautiful silver fruit bowl and a silver almond spoon. The gift to the retiring president of the club was a reminder of her twenty-fifth wedding day anniversary, observed a few days ago. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. James C. Dick, and Mrs. Macrum made happy response. The meeting was a social one, with an unusually enjoyable musical program rendered by Mrs. Myron R. Stowell, soprano; William McDonald Dorrington, baritone, and Mrs. James Blair Walker, pianist. Mrs. Gough, who is visiting in the city, was Mrs. Stowell's accompanist, and later in the afternoon also sang. The serving of tea followed the music, the tea table being prettily decorated with huge pink peonies. Mrs. Oliver McKinnis, the chairman of the social committee, presided, and was assisted by Mrs. John M. L'Amour, Mrs. Julia Nelson, Miss Margaret Nelson, Mrs. James Montgomery and Mrs. Lang.

Meeting Postponed Until Tonight.

The first meeting of the Juvenile Court Aid society will be held this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Rauh in Bartlett street, Squirrel Hill. A meeting to effect an organization was to have been held last evening, but was postponed because of a meeting of the board of managers of the J. M. Gusky Orphanage and Home. About 40 prominent men and women have been invited to attend the meeting this evening to elect officers for this new branch of work inaugurated by the Columbia Council of Jewish Women. No fixed dues having been determined upon, but contributions asked for range from $1 to $10. The society will pay the salary of a probation officer, who will work under the direction of the Juvenile Court association, but among Jewish children and families exclusively.

Bridge Tournament for Juvenile Court.

Plans are progressing for the bridge tournament for women, which will be given next Wednesday afternoon in the Edgeworth club house, Sewickley, for the benefit of the juvenile court. The tournament will be open to players in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Sewickley, who send their names to Mrs. O. D. Thompson, Sewickley, before next Tuesday. Prizes will be offered in each section, the number to be determined as soon as the number of women who will play is known. The entrance fee will be $1, which should be sent to Mrs. Thompson or paid at the club house before the tournament opens. The committee under whose auspices the tournament will be conducted is composed of Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mrs. Richard R. Quay, Mrs. Arthur B. Starr and Mrs. Oliver D. Thompson.

Cannot Be Here.

Word has been received from Mr. Crittenton, the founder of Florence Crittenton Rescue homes, who was to conduct the noon meeting today at the Young Men's Christian association and to speak tonight at the Sixth United Presbyterian church, North Highland avenue, that he had missed connections and would be unable to come to Pittsburgh at this time. Quite a number of people were disappointed in not hearing him last night at the home, 1852 Center avenue.

SOCIETY

THE most important social happening of yesterday was the benefit concert given last evening at the Alvin theater by James Stephen Martin and his pupils for the benefit of the Eye and Ear hospital, the members of the board of managers acting as patronesses. An interesting program was given, choruses being especially enjoyable. The soloists were Miss Elsie May Gundling of Wheeling; Mrs. F. N. Steele, Albert McDonaugh, Miss Adelaide Foltz, Miss Myrtle June McAteer, George Paul Moore, Miss Elizabeth C. McNally, Miss Henrietta Bowlin, Miss Olive Wheat, Miss Ella May Duffin, Edward Vaughan, Miss Genevieve Wheat, Miss Katherine Ellis, Richard S. Knotts, Miss Jane Lang and David Stevens.

One of the especially notable numbers was the charms with which the program opened, "A Legend" by Tschaikowsky, and Rossini's classic, "The Inflammatus" (Stabat Mater) in which Miss Gundling took the solo part and sang it gloriously, with fine artistic finish and rich tone. Miss McAteer played the violin obligato for Miss Olive Wheat's solo, Mozart's "L'Amero" (Il Re Pastore) which was one of the enjoyable numbers. By special request the pupil's chorus in closing the program repeated from last year's program Dudley Buck's "The Nun of Nidaros," in which Mr. Stevens sang the solo part. Miss McNally and Miss Genevieve Wheat, favorites with Pittsburgh's music lovers, added to their laurels last night by their commendable efforts. A clever piece of chorus work was the singing of Arthur Dunham's "What the Chimney Sang," with which the Chicago Madrigal club won the first prize in 1903.

The boxes were all taken and most of them were filled with gay parties, the holders being Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. Daniel M. Clemson, Mrs. W. Harry Brown, Mrs. James Stephen Martin, Miss Marion McLean, Mrs. John Brown Heron and Mrs. William Flinn. Mrs. Scott expected to have Miss Coleman of Lexington, Ky., as her guest of honor, but Miss Coleman's coming to Pittsburgh having been delayed, Mrs. Scott's guests were Mr. Scott, Miss Lupton and John Irvine Scott. Mrs. Clemson's box was occupied by a party of friends, she having given her seats up entirely. Mrs. Brown also gave her box away. It was occupied by Miss Mary A. G. Mitchell and Miss Elizabeth H. Mitchell, who chaperoned a number of their pupils from the East End Preparatory school. The girls were Miss Kate Keller, Miss Marion Keller, Miss Elizabeth Moore, Miss Madeline Moore, and Miss Frances Shallenberger. With Mr. and Mrs. Martin were Dr. and Mrs. Chevalier G. Feratta of Beaver, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. McLean. Miss McLean's party included Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Gross MacConnell, Miss Marion Clarke, William Hays, Jr., Frederick North and Crosby McLean. Mr. and Mrs. Heron occupied their box alone. One of the upper boxes held the superintendent and resident physicians of the hospital, and Mrs. Flinn was hostess to Miss Mary Jennings, Miss Katherine Jennings and Miss Mary Flinn and Miss Edith Flinn, her two daughters.

Committees for Lawn Fete.

An annual event of great interest in Oakmont social circles is the lawn fete given by the Young Women's Guild of St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal church. The lawn fete will be held tomorrow afternoon on the grounds surrounding the home of Charles B. Price, the proceeds to be used for the fresh air fund. The committees are as follows: Ice cream and cake, Mrs. Harry S. Paul, Mrs. Caleb C. Decorations Were Exquisite.

One of the most original decorative schemes of the season was carried out yesterday at the luncheon which Mrs. James Francis Burke gave at the Country club for her house guest, Mrs. Charles J. F. Hiller of Franklin. The table, laid with covers for 23, was decorated with tall vases of American Beauty roses, and above it hung a dumbbell-shaped canopy of smilax, while reaching from the canopy to each place was a rope of the vine ending in a corsage bouquet of American Beauties. The place cards were dainty water colors. After the luncheon the guests played bridge in the large living room, which was occupied by six tables. Above each hung two flags representative of different countries, Miss Louis Brown, under Italy's emblem, carrying off the trophy, a handsome silver loving cup.

RATIONS SCANT, HE SAYS.

"Andy's" Story of Unsatisfied Hunger at West Penn Hospital Denied by Superintendent J. W. Kreps.

Anthony H. Karl, a head orderly at the West Penn hospital, known there as "Andy," has left the institution. Karl says he resigned because he had lost 25 pounds since he went to work at the hospital. The orderlies' rations, Karl complains, are too scant.

Karl also said the orderlies had presented a petition to Supt. J. W. Kreps saying they wanted three square meals a day and were tired of the constant cuts being made in their rations. Mr. Kreps said yesterday that no such petition had been handed him, and the orderlies were not, so far as he knew, going to strike, as asserted by Karl.

"The orderlies get food and plenty of it," said Mr. Kreps. "They have comfortable, clean beds to sleep in. It is true that sometimes the management has to adopt rules to prevent waste in various departments, but it is untrue that the orderlies have not enough to eat. I heard that 'Andy' had been complaining, so I hunted him up and informed him that, as the board and treatment did not suit him, he had better get his money and quit, which he did."

STOCK MARKETS HEAVY AND PRICES DECLINED

Foreigners Were Liberal Sellers and Support Was Lacking—Oil and Gas and Coal Preferred Weak in the Local Market.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Wall street was somewhat surprised and greatly disappointed over the lower quotations received from London for American securities yesterday. The foreign markets resumed business after the long holiday, and it was expected that they would reflect the better feeling over peace prospects. The only response to the latter, however, were advances of 2 per cent in Russian 4s in the Paris market and in Japanese issues in the London market to the highest prices ever quoted. London was a seller of American securities, unloading 30,000 shares during the first half hour after the opening. There was no news to account for this change of sentiment, and Wall street was inclined to believe that the foreign market had been manipulated from this side. At no time during the day was there much of a rally, support was lacking in the specialties, and final prices were at or near the lowest of the day. The net declines ranged from ¾ to 1¾ per cent. That the weakness was due more to professional operations than to liquidation on the part of the public seemed to be proved by the gradual falling off in business, the sales for the day falling below the half-million share mark.

In the early trading the steel stocks held better than the railroads and United States Steel issues advanced fractionally. Later in the day they declined with the remainder of the list, the common closing ⅛ and the preferred 1¼ per cent lower. The best information in Pittsburgh is that there has been a favorable change in sentiment during the past few days, not very pronounced, to be sure, but nevertheless a perceptible change, and it is the opinion of the best posted authorities that July will witness an actual change for the better. The improvement will make progress as the outlook for the crops improves, and if the harvests are up to the average, the iron trade will recover to the maximum of the year. American Smelting advanced to 114, but later sold off to 111½, and closed 1⅜ per cent lower for the day. Amalgamated Copper was under considerable pressure, declining to 73¾, to within a fraction of the low point touched last week when the annual report was made public. The street gave Mr. Lawson credit for the depression in this stock.

The tractions sold off with the remainder of the list, Metropolitan showing a loss of 1⅛ per cent.

St. Paul was the weakest member of the railroad list, selling off from 175½ to 173¾, and closing at a net loss of 1¾ per cent. Union Pacific closed at the lowest of the day, and Southern Pacific at a decline of 1⅜ per cent. The southern and southwestern group closed ½ to 1½ per cent lower. The strength in the grain markets may have influenced some selling of the granger railroad stocks. The Pennsylvania group was only moderately active and closed 1 to 1½ per cent lower.

There was no change whatever in money market conditions, call loans ruling easy at 2½ to 2¾ per cent.

There was an unusual dearth of news or rumor affecting values, and in discussing the probable cause for the change of sentiment among professional traders the only thing that received attention was the forthcoming report of the state insurance commissioner on the result of his investigation of the affairs of the Equitable. While stood does not yet feel absolutely certain that this matter has been removed as a factor in the situation.

The weakness in Pittsburgh Coal preferred and Pittsburgh Oil and Gas was the feature of the local market, although nearly everything on the list closed lower. Pittsburgh Coal common lost 1 per cent, selling at 17, and closing offered at that price. The preferred broke to 73½, following a similar decline in New York, and closed at the lowest. Oil and Gas broke 4 per cent to 65, and closed at 63½ bid, 65 asked, the movement being based upon the reports from the Butler oil pool showing that the wells of the company were declining in output. Manufacturers Light and Heat was unchanged and Philadelphia Company common a shade lower. Crucible Steel preferred closed ⅝ lower at 61¼, while the common closed firmer at 10¼ bid. United States Steel preferred closed offered at 94, after selling at 95½ to 94½, and the common closed offered at 27⅞. National Fire Proofing preferred was firmed at 34½ bid, and United States Glass was higher at 60. Air Brake recovered to 145, while Electric closed a fraction lower at 83⅜. There was a subsidence of the demand for Brewing securities and prices closed steady and unchanged. There was no business in bonds.

U. S. Interurban Railways.

The business of 292 interurban railways in the United States, report for 1902, shows average receipts of 21 cents per car mile and average receipt per mile of track of $4,863. The West Penn Railways Company, located in the Connellsville coke region, shows an earning of 25½ cents per car mile, or $7,000 per mile of track for 1904. The receipts of all the lines of railways operated in the city of Pittsburgh are 26¼ cents per car mile. When it is considered that the West Penn railway is an interurban road, it's high standing is remarkable.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mr. Lawson of Boston was very busy yesterday issuing bulletins and making predictions concerning the future course of Amalgamated Copper and United States Steel preferred. He offered to pay a million dollars to any one who could prove that he was short as much as a thousand shares of stock in the New York and Boston markets combined, and in addition thereto if found guilty promised never to write another line on the subject of finance. He then made a prediction that Steel preferred would sell at 40 and Amalgamated Copper at 20, but did not set any date for a realization of these predictions. While bankers and brokers almost without exception denounce Lawson as a mountebank, and deplore the fact that the public should be influenced by anything he says, they nevertheless manifest a lively interest in his doings and sayings, and yesterday they gave him credit for depressing the stocks mentioned. To an outsider, it looks as if the professional traders and some brokers attach more importance to Mr. Lawson than the public attaches to him. They apparently sell stocks in the expectation that the public will become frightened into selling, and thus help to fulfill his predictions, and when the public does nothing in the market, the same professional traders and brokers buy back their stocks and are responsible for the recovery.

The eleventh annual convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association will be held in Wilkesbarre on Thursday and Friday. Following is a list of local delegates who will leave tonight on a special car arranged for them by R. J. Stoney, Jr., chairman of Group 8: R. J. Stoney, Jr., banker; W. J. Diehl, Columbia Savings and Trust Company; A. D. Robb, Colonial Trust Company; G. D. Edwards, Commonwealth Trust Company; J. R. Morrow, Continental Trust Company; D. C. Willis, Diamond National bank; A. H. Patterson, Duquesne National bank; T. G. Griggs, First National bank; George S. Macrum, National Bank of Western Pennsylvania; C. E. Willock, Fidelity Title and Trust Company; M. E. Geer, Farmers Deposit National bank; H. Schumacker, Peoples National bank; W. E. Von Bonnhorst, James Carothers & Co. of Pittsburgh; C. H. Schenider, Allegheny Trust Company, and F. R. Reynolds, Ohio Valley bank, Allegheny; G. N. Morrison, Farmers National bank, C. M. Hughes, Beaver Trust Company; E. J. Allison, First National bank; H. W. Reeves, John T. Reeves & Co. of Beaver Falls; J. M. Painter, Merchants National bank, Kittanning; D. H. Rhodes, National bank of McKeesport, McKeesport; J. R. Alter, Logan Trust Company, New Kensington; J. M. Zimmers, Scottdale bank, Scottdale.

Edwin L. Porter, connected with the Pittsburgh agency of the Equitable Life, recently addressed a letter to every bank official in the city, asking an opinion as to the probable future rate of interest on investments of a character suitable for trust funds during the next 20 years. He summarizes the result of his inquiries as follows: "Out of the large number of replies received only 46 men—the leading financiers of the city, men who were supposed to be able to speak authoritatively on the subject, if anybody is—were even willing to venture an opinion. Of these 46, 23 were either practically non-committal or inclined toward lower rates. Seventeen were positive that rates would be lower, and only six were of the opinion that rates might possibly advance."

The Central Accident Insurance Company of Pittsburgh has declared a semi-annual dividend of $4 a share.

A New York dispatch said: In the United States circuit court of appeals Judge Wallace reversed the decision of the United States circuit court which awarded the Westinghouse Airbrake Company a decree for $165,682 against the New York Airbrake Company. The amount was allowed because of an infringement of a valve owned by the Westinghouse Company, the damages, however, being based upon the loss of sales of a complete airbrake structure.

Robert Mather has been elected president of the new Indiana Consolidated Coal Company, which is closely allied with the Rock Island and which has been organized to develop coal fields in Indiana and Illinois. Mr. Mather is also first vice president of the Rock Island.

In addition to the declarattion of the regular quarterly dividend of 25 per cent, the Fifth avenue bank of New York has declared a special dividend of 120 per cent out of the earnings of 1903 and 1904.

The Sloss-Sheffield Iron Company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent.

The Homestake Mining Company has declared the regular monthly dividend of 50 cents.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent, payable July 1.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred sold in New York yesterday at 73½, the initial price of the stock last month, when it was listed on the New York stock exchange. This represents a decline of 6¾ per cent from the high point of May 15.

For the May quarter the surplus earnings of Sloss-Sheffield over taxes and dividend were $254,455, an increase of $150,000.

The profits of North Butte Mining for the month of May were approximately $250,000.

The subsidiary companies controlled by the Amalgamated Copper Company, including the Boston and Montana, Anaconda, Butte and Boston, Trenton, Parrot and Washoe companies, have filed with the tax authorities their annual statements showing combined net earnings for the year ended June 1 of $5,692,243, against $6,240,026 for the previous year.

The gross earnings of Southern Railway for the first week in June increased $24,732.

Some of the newer phases of the Equitable Life affair were not wholly relished in stock market circles, notably the general straitgnment of conditions in the life insurance business contained in former President Cleveland's acceptance of the trusteeship.

The crop bulletin of the weather bureau received an unfavorable interpretation in the commodities market. The conditions reported for corn and cotton were considered unsatisfactory, while much was made of the disappointing yield reported from the winter wheat being harvested and the improved condition of spring wheat was practically ignored.

The increase shown in the May exports of agricultural productions of nearly $22,000,000 over those of last year did not help the stock market. The expansion in cotton as reported during the month to 672,713 bales against 144,260 bales in May of last year, was the noteworthy feature of the showing.

The interrupted easy ruling in the money market took that subject practically out of consideration. Another payment by the subtreasury of $500,000 on account of a telegraphic transfer from San Francisco marked the further return of funds recently transmitted to that point on account of the American Smelting Company's purchases.

United States government new 4s, coupon, advanced ¼ per cent on call in New York.

Germany Orders Torpedo Boats.

BERLIN, June 13.—The navy department has ordered of the Germania works six sea-going torpedo boats of a different type from those previously constructed or authorized. They are expected to have a speed equal to the boats of the present type, be strong enough to withstand the fire of an enemy's quick firing guns, while approaching a warship and discharging torpedoes. One of the six boats will be fitted with turbine engines as an experiment.

NEW POTATOES PLENTY IN THE LOCAL MARKET

Prices Expected to Take a Drop—Canteloupes Are Also Arriving Freely.

While there were few quotations to change yesterday in the Pittsburgh produce markets, there is every indication that some severe cuts will soon come. New potatoes will no doubt take a decided drop, as heavy receipts are bound to force them down. Yesterday 57 carloads of new potatoes were received. Thirteen cars of canteloupes also came into the yards, and these are expected to bring down the price of that luscious fruit. Watermelons are still a little slow, only three carloads arriving yesterday.

Raspberries made their first appearance yesterday. Red ones are selling at 25 and 35 cents along the street, and black ones at 18 and 20 cents a quart. This was practically the only change to note in the local markets.

The egg market still continues strong. Butter is about the same as it was, the cut this week having affected no improvement. The storage of butter is beginning now and this will have a tendency to check the dropping of the price, as the rest of the summer the big dealers will be packing away hundreds of thousands of pounds for next winter's consumption.

In groceries there were no changes. Flour stiffened up a little with the advance in September wheat. The present quotation still holds, but considerable shading is being indulged.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania lines, 29 hay, 7 oats, 3 feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 oats, 4 hay, 1 feed; Baltimore & Ohio, 19 hay, 1 oats, 2 feed, 1 corn, 3 straw.

The only firm commodity yesterday was oats, receipts not quite equalling the demand. Hay is dull and sales are hard to effect. Millfeed continues quite active.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, June 13.—Manufacturers show a tendency to hold back on high prices at present ruling in the wool market. The market is notably strong. As far as any medium grades of wool are concerned the demand is strong enough to warrant the belief that that portion of the clip will sell at good prices. Pulled wools are in small supply. Foreign and territory wools are firm, with trading moderate. FIRM TONE PERVADES THE WHEAT MARKET

Threshers Report New Crop Yield Is Small—Corn Shows Gain—Oats Are Off.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 13.—Reports from threshers that the new crop yield is small helped maintain a firm tone in the wheat market here today. At the close July delivery was up 1½c. Corn shows a gain of ½c; oats are off ⅛c, and provisions are down 5@7½c.

Firmness in the wheat market developed soon after the opening. At the start the market was rather weak, initial quotations of July being off ⅛@⅜ to ⅝@¾c, at 86¼ to 86⅝c. Pit traders were quite free sellers at the opening. Excellent weather throughout the greater part of the United States was one of the reasons for the selling pressure. Another factor that had considerable influence was the bearish tenor of reports received from a party of traders who are touring the Ohio valley states investigating crop conditions. According to advices from this source the yield of wheat in Indiana and Ohio promises to be the largest yield per acre ever grown. News of an entirely opposite nature soon gave rise to a moderate demand, sentiment in the pit gradually becoming firm. From Nebraska came reports of considerable damage by the Hessian flies. Another feature of a bullish nature was the strength of wheat at Minneapolis. As trading progressed offerings became scarce. Late in the session the market was further strengthened by a report from Dallas, Texas, that returns from threshing showed the new crop to be generally of an inferior grade. Just before the close July sold at 87¾c. Final quotations in that option were at 86⅞@87c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 11,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 227,000 bushels, compared with 335,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 209 cars, against 200 cars last week and 244 cars a year ago.

Reports of damage to the crop in the Ohio valley states gave a strong undertone to the corn market. Absence of any indication of an increase in movement furnished an additional bullish influence. Commission houses were persistent buyers throughout the entire session. The market opened a trifle easier as a result of larger receipts than expected, but offerings were not sufficient to satisfy the demand and prices quickly rallied. July opened unchanged to ¼c lower at 51⅞ to 52¼c, advanced to 53¼c and closed at 52¾c. Local receipts were 508 cars, with 109 of contract grade.

Sentiment in the oats market was bearish the entire day, selling by cash houses being a feature of the trading. The volume of business was small. July opened a shade to ¼@¼c lower at 30¾@30⅞ to 30⅝@31c, sold off to 30¾c and closed at 30⅞c. Local receipts were 281 cars.

Provisions were inclined to weakness, notwithstanding liberal shipments of meats and lard. Commission houses were moderate sellers. At the close September pork was off 5@7½c, at $12.35@12.87½. Lard and ribs were each 2½c lower at $7.42½@7.45 and $7.65 respectively. Estimated receipts for tomorrow—Wheat, 3 cars; corn, 174 cars; oats, 77 cars; hogs, 23,000 head.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A letter from Goldfield, Nev., says: William Scallon, who succeeded the late Marcus Daly as president of the Anaconda Copper Company, and who until recently was the representative in the western country for the Amalgamated Copper Company, has just purchased 14 claims in the Bullfrog district next to the Gibraltar Mine syndicate's group on and adjoining Bonanza mountain. The property purchased by Mr. Scallon lies on the plain at the foot of Bonanza mountain, and the present town of Bullfrog is built on it. There is not a single surface indication on the property which would determine that there was a pound of ore imbedded in the entire 280 acres. In the opinion, however, of well-posted mining engineers here, Mr. Scallon has as large a chance of uncovering a series of gold mines as have the owners of the Gibraltar, Transvaal, Denver or Eclipse properties on Bonanza mountain itself, where a series of a dozen gold-bearing ledges crop on the surface for several thousand feet.

"Mr. Scallon, along with the engineers of the Gibraltar Mines syndicate, who recently added to their holdings the Morris & Phillips group and the Ugly Duckling and Comet claims that lie at the foot of Bonanza mountain, on the desert, are working on the theory that made John Hays Hammond famous in Johannesburg, and which has been successfully worked out in Tonopah. In the Bullfrog country they have simply observed the trend of the ledges, and seeing that the croppings point in the direction of Bullfrog, they have bought the ground that extends from the base of the mountain for a distance of 12,000 feet through the town of Bullfrog. They are going to sink shafts at spots already selected by them and are sure they will, at a depth of from 500 to 700 feet, tap the ledges. The ledges in evidence on Bonanza mountain in their opinion do not stop at the base of the mountain, but extend into the desert and on through the town of Bullfrog.

"The Tonopah Extension Mining Company, whose property is situated on the desert, found it necessary to go to a depth of 800 feet before encountering the lode. The Tonopah Midway sunk about 200 feet before reaching the lode. The Tonopah Extension encountered the lode at a depth of about 50 feet. The Golden Anchor Mining Company encountered the lode at about 600 feet. The Pittsburgh of Tonopah reached a depth of 1,000 feet before its engineers were rewarded. None of these properties are located on mountains. At only one point in the Tonopah district has the lode porphyry outcropped or appeared at the surface, and this outcrop covers an area of only about 50 acres. At this point the original discovery was made.

"The town of Rhyolite, situated on the desert about a mile from the town of Bullfrog, and lying about midway between Bonanza mountain and Ladd and Montgomery mountain, is said to have great possibilities for the making of a number of good mines. The ledges on Bonanza mountain do not run in the direction of the townsite of Rhyolite, but those of Montgomery mountain point directly toward and through it, and so do those of Ladd mountain.

"On Ladd mountain is situated the famous Bullfrog National bank property, which has a ledge uncovered which is 124 feet wide, and points in the direction of the north half of the town. Elliott, Cushman and Busch, three young men who have made and lost fortunes in the Tonopah excitement, and later in the early days of Goldfield, bought the claims on which the townsite of Rhyolite is situated, and have already cleared a quarter of a million dollars from the sale of lots. Having disposed by contract of most of the surface rights, these men are now turning their attention to the disposition of the mineral rights, and Mr. Elliott reports that the price of $500,000 has been put on the mineral rights of the 15 claims which comprise the townsite. In the present state of excitement over the Bullfrog district, it is believed they will not have to wait long for a purchaser."

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The London tin market, reopening after the holidays, was decidedly firm, with spot closing at £138 2s 6d and futures at £136 15s. Locally the market was firm with spot quoted at 30 20@30 40. Copper was higher in London, closing at £76 2s 6d for both spot and futures. Locally the situation is without material change, both lake and electrolytic being generally quoted at $15 00, although it is said that some producers are asking above that figure for lake. Casting is held at $14 75. Lead also was higher in the English market, closing at £13. Locally there was no change, spot remaining at $4 60@4 65. Spelter remained unchanged at $5 35 in the local market, but was higher at £24 in London. Iron closed at 49s 4d in Glasgow and at 45s 6d in Middlesboro. Locally iron was unchanged with No. 1 foundry northern quoted at $16 50@17 00; No. 2 foundry northern at $16 00@16 50; No. 1 foundry southern at $15 25@16 75; No. 2 foundry southern, soft, at $15 25@17 00; No. 2 foundry southern at $15 75@16 25.

BOSTON, June 13.—London prices were off about half a point this morning and New York opened up in sympathy. The market continued weak and dull throughout the day. Lawson was out with a tissue saying Steel preferred would sell at 40 and A. C. P. at 30. Some fear of a bad report Thursday from State Supt. Hendricks on Equitable affairs probably caused some selling. Coppers were inclined to drag a little. No real reason has been given for the recent decline in Tennessee, but several rumors are floating around in regard to its dividend being reduced.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points, following fairly steady European cables and in response to a little European demand. But offerings increased later in the session, owing to the large primary receipts, and the market in the afternoon was easier, the chief selling being credited to speculative longs. The market closed easy at a decline of 6 points on September, but generally 10 to 15 points lower. Sales were reported of 56,750 bags, including July, 6.65@6.20c; January at 6.60@6.45c; March at 6.65@6.80c. Spot—Rio steady; No. 7 invoice, 7½c. The Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, June 13.—Money was fairly plentiful in the market today. Discounts were easy. On the stock exchange operators were largely engaged in the settlement. Nevertheless prices generally were buoyant at the opening, being stimulated by the initial steps taken in the peace negotiations. Afterwards quotations receded, the Morocco question troubling the market. Consols hardened, reacted later and closed dull. Home rails hesitated on the uncertainty as to the holiday traffic returns. Americans opened moderately firm in response to Wall street, and after making further advances weakened to below parity on realizations and closed irregular. Foreigners were firm, especially Japanese, though they closed below the best prices of the day.

BOOM IS GIVEN TO ATHLETICS

Chancellor S. B. McCormick Encourages Men of Brawn at Western University.

BIG CLASS IS GRADUATED

The annual commencement of the collegiate, engineering and law departments of the Western University of Pennsylvania was held yesterday afternoon in the Nixon theater. There were 56 graduates from the various departments and each received a diploma from the hands of Chancellor S. B. McCormick. Dr. John Houston Finley, president of the college of the city of New York, delivered the principal address. Chancellor McCormick and Paul Coleman, the valedictorian, expressed the hope that the university would soon be housed in fine buildings in the residence district of Pittsburgh.

The chancellor took the side of encouraging athletics in colleges by announcing that a student of the Western university would have won a Cecil Rhodes scholarship at Oxford if his athletic rating had been better. "Let me whisper to some of you who decry athletics in our schools, that we need to give it some encouragement here," said Chancellor McCormick.

Dr. Finley's address was rather academic in character and touched many of the more notable points in man's history. He opened by referring to the graduates as immigrants landing upon new shores, telling them they were leaving the university behind them to become citizens of this continent. He told of how one's conception of "early man" leads back in thought to some troical or semi-tropical country in which man dwelt and from which civilization was evolved. "It would be interesting to know," said he, "what first impelled man to go forth from the fires of the tropics to the colder climates of the north, where greater energy is needed to maintain life. What if our early fathers had colonized in the West Indies or in Brazil?" President Finley referred to the rise of the German empire, to the nationalization of Italy, to the fall of absoluteism in France, the "Europenizing" of Japan, and the "Japaning" of a portion of Europe.

Charles Roher Crow, the salutatorian, delivered his oration in Latin. Honorary degrees were bestowed upon George W. Guthrie, Dr. Marcus Benjamin, the Rev. William E. Hunt, the Rev. Robert Meech and the Rev. William I. Wishart. Prizes were awarded as follows:

Chancellor's prizes in English literature, offered to the students who make the best general average in literature during freshman and sophomore years—Sophomore prize, W. C. Arthur and C. A. Miller; freshman prize, Percy E. Burtt; chancellor's oratorical prize, Paul Coleman. Prizes to graduates on basis of work done during the last three years of the course—Classical, Paul Coleman, first; Charles R. Crow, second; scientific, Harry C. Bashlcum, first; Jacob Rosenbloom, second; engineering, F. W. Henrici, first; W. P. Finley, second.

In the evening the members of the academic department held a banquet at the Hotel Duquesne.

At the class banquet at the Hotel Duquesne last night it was proved beyond question that the era of emancipation for young women has arrived, and while the chaperon waited, Miss Brenda Eleanor Marshall, who received the degree of bachelor of science, enjoyed a final meeting with her classmates.

It was a jolly and informal gathering of the members of the academic department of the university. F. W. Henrici was toastmaster. The class history was read by J. D. Davis and J. N. McIntyre was the class prophet. These were the tops of some of the three-minute speeches which each banqueter was obliged to make: "Oratory as a Pastime," "Poker as a Science," "My Friend, Alex Tricity," "Beautiful McKeesport," "Bluffing Through W. U. P.," "Ten Nights in a Barroom" and "Trials of Married Life."

INCREASING PATRONAGE DEMANDS LARGER STAFF

Popularity of Luna Park Shows Steady Growth and Compels Larger Executive Force.

Announcement has been made of additions to the executive staff of Luna park. Tunis F. Dean, for several seasons Harry Davis' representative in giving publicity to the Davis stock company, is now the personal representative of Frederick Ingersoll, proprietor of Luna park, while C. T. Boykin has been made the press representative. William C. Little, who has heretofore had charge of the press work is now manager of the Japanese village, the theater and the aquarium, as well as superintendent of a number of the amusement features in the park. The business of Luna park has grown to such dimensions that Mr. Ingersoll found it necessary to increase his business staff.

The second week at Luna park opened last Monday afternoon, when in addition to the regular patronage, there was a picnic given by St. Joseph's Casino and congregation. Last night the attendance was considerably increased by the Hi Yi club's drawing in the dancing pavilion. Today McKinley chapter No. 20, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a picnic, and tomorrow the St. Lawrence church and school will have their annual picnic. On Saturday, the stationary engineers of Pittsburgh will hold a picnic on the park grounds.

Society has taken up the new amusement resort as a fad, and Craig street is lined every evening with automobiles. Among the new innovations Mr. Ingersoll is preparing is an automobile drive around the park grounds. This is expected to be finished within 10 days. Among the specialty features this week is the Globe of Bazardous Death, a thrilling and hazardous performance. The Flying Rathbuns contribute a novel and sensational aerial act, while Belle Stone, "the woman in the globe," gives a clever exhibition. The Red Cockade band in a program of classical and popular airs, is a delightful feature, while the Japanese theater and village is daily attended by throngs of people.

CATHOLIC PRIESTS HOLD SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING

Brushing Up on Theology, Canon Law and Parish Government—Transubstantiation from Two Views.

The semi-annual conference of the priests of the Roman Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh was held yesterday at three places, Butler, Scottdale and Pittsburgh. The priests of Armstrong, Butler and Lawrence counties met at St. Mary's rectory in Butler, and the priests of Fayette, Indiana and Westmoreland counties attended the conference in Scottdale.

The conferences are intended to keep the priests studying, and papers are read on theology, canon law and parish government. The papers read are then generally discussed by the priests present. Usually, when one priest is assigned to prepare a paper on a subject, another priest is assigned to take the negative side, to produce the arguments which would be apt to be used by the opponents of the church.

Thus, "Transubstantiation" was the subject assigned to Father P. Hesson at the conference held yesterday in the Pittsburgh Lyceum, which the priests of Allegheny county attended. Father Lawrence O'Connell had the negative side. Both priests had studied up the subject carefully, and Father O'Connell, priests who were present said, made the most of the arguments which he adduced, but which he himself, of course, does not believe.

Father Joseph Suehr is the persident of the conference, and Father Thomas Devlin the secretary.

Pittsburgh Student Delivers the Humorous Speech at Princeton's Class Exercises.

ALUMNI OF PENNSY GATHER

PRINCETON, N. J., June 13.—The class exercises of Princeton's commencement were held in the quadrangle today. The class history was read by James D. Voorhees, Philadelphia. Kenneth R. McAlpin of Ossining, N. Y., made the presentation speech. The humorous speech, a feature of every commencement, in which the failings of the class members are chronicled, was delivered by Kenneth S. Clark of Pittsburgh. Harold N. Short of St. Louis delivered the president's address.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—Alumni day at the University of Pennsylvania was observed today by more than 2,000 graduates of the institution. Nearly 50 classes and departmental organizations gathered in reunion, and the general societies held their annual meetings. After a banquet the General Alumni society held its annual meeting.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Columbia university will hold its one hundredth and fifty-first commencement tomorrow morning in the university gymnasium. In all, 1,147 degrees will be conferred. The honorary degrees include the following: Robert Simpson Woodward, professor of mechanics and mathematical physics in Columbia university and president of the Carnegie institution of Washington; doctor of letters, William Wean Howells; Jacob McGarock Dickinson, of counsel for the United States before the Alaska boundary tribunal.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 13.—The graduation exercises of the first class of cadets, 114 in number, were held today. Secretary of War Taft delivered the diplomas.

H. Jusserand, the French ambassador, who spoke briefly to the class, said among other things: "It is my wish that your stars shall not only be in the heavens or on your flag, but on your sleeves."

Many University Candidates.

Examinations for admission to the collegiate and engineering departments of the Western University of Pennsylvania will be held at the university building, Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, today and tomorrow. The indications are that freshmen class candidates will largely exceed the number of previous years.

THE THREE RIVERS

At 8 o'clock last night the marks on the gauge at Davis Island dam showed a stage of 6.8 feet, and the river was stationary.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., June 13.—At 6 p. m. today the Ohio river at Cincinnati was 14.5 feet and rising. Today's departures of packets from the port of Cincinnati were: Virginia, Pittsburgh; Greenwood, Pomeroy; Courier, Maysville, and City of Cincinnati, Louisville. The last of the Pittsburgh fleet to pass here was the Jim Wood, which went down early this morning with a tow of coal for Louisville. All of the other boats went on to Louisville and will return from that point with empties and go as far up the river as water will allow them. The only loss reported among the towboats which passed here was the sinking of a barge by the Tom Rees No. 2. One of the loaded barges struck a snag in the vicinity of the Queen City marine ways and sunk a little below that point. The machinery on the towboat Relief, which sunk here last winter, has been removed and shipped to Pittsburgh, where it will be used for a new boat which will be built by the Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke Company. Clear and pleasant.

EMPTY BARGES GETTING UP.

Coal Companies Taking Advantage of Swell in the Rivers.

All the coal companies are taking advantage of the swell in the rivers and are getting all their heavy towboats and empty barges into the harbor. The Oakland arrived yesterday with a big tow for the Jutte Company and the Gleaner will arrive today with a tow. The River Coal company has several big towboats steaming up the river, and they will all be in before this water is gone.

Capt. John P. Klein reports the river excursion business a heavier this season than it has been any year since he engaged in the business. Yesterday his boat Island Queen took St. Michael's Catholic church people to Elizabeth and return for the day. The Liberty went out with the Methodist Episcopal church of Brownsville. Last night the Beauty took out the alumni association of trained nurses of the Homeopathic hospital. Saturday night the Mozart club will have the Island Queen. All three of the Klein boats are booked for every day and night this week and next.

Maj. W. L. Sibert has advertised for bids for the removal of the old bear-trap gates at Davis Island dam, for remodeling the piers and building a new gate. The bids will be opened June 20.

Maj. W. L. Sibert opened his bids yesterday for 3,500 barrels of Portland cement to be used in the building of dam No. 2 in the Monongahela river. The bids have been sent to Washington for approval.

Oil is now being towed up the Mississippi in tank boats from New Orleans to a point 200 miles up the river, where it is used as fuel by the Southern Pacific railroad engines.

The Kanawha went out yesterday. The Columbia was the only boat in, and she left for Morgantown at the usual time.

OPTICIANS,

Arrott Building, Second Floor, Corner Wood St. and Fourth Avenue, Pittsburgh.

EVERY NOONTIME YOU SEE IT:

An innumerable number of eyes turned upward, from every point of vantage in the greater city. All gazing at the top northwest corner of the Farmers Bank Building, watching for the time ball to drop at high noon.

The time ball has certainly caught the public eye and "Where's the best place to see the time ball drop?" is a query often heard. Weather man Ridgway claims that the best place from which to see the daily time performance is his office on the top of the Farmers building. And no doubt Mr. Ridgway is right; he certainly gets a close view of it, but it isn't the best place for everybody.

The big downtown crowds who cannot go but a minute or so out of their way to witness the time ball's descent unconsciously agree that the best place to stand is right in front of the new stores of J. G. Bennett & Company at Fifth avenue and Wood street. Here you see a daily throng assembled; men and women who are waiting for their different cars to come along, folks on their way to lunch, shoppers, strangers, et. al. It seems to be just the point from which to gaze up at the great height without breaking your back or being taken unawares by a speeding automobile. Besides there are always some good attractions in Bennett's windows. While waiting for the time ball to drop you can see any number of men taking a glimpse of the latest fashions in hats and furnishings, and women admiring the modish things in millinery, suits and dresses.
